U. S. CANNOT PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE

STATE DEPARTMENT SO INSTRUCTS IT'S REPRESENTATIVES

Ambassadors in London, Paris and Rome Are Told to Make Reply to England, France and Italy—Will Observe Closely the Proceedings at Lasuanne, Switzerland

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Another request that the United States actively participate with the allied governments in the settlement of European difficulties, this time involving the establishment of peace between Turkey and the allies and the statues of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus straits, was received today by the Washington government.

Its formal presentation by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, Count de Chambrun, acting for France in the absence of Ambassador Jusserand, and Charge Rossi, who appeared for Senator Ricci, Italian ambassador, was followed by an authoritative statement from the state department that this government yeserday had instructed its ambassadors in London, Paris and Rome, to inform those governments that it could not officially participate in the Near East conference at Lasaunne, Switzerland.

It was pointed out that there were important interests in the Near East in which this government was interested and treatment of these by the Lasaunne conferees would be observed by American representatives.

Regarding the decision not to be represented thru appointed delegates, it was said the United States had never been at war with Turkey, and therefore, did not believe it could appropriately take part in framing a treaty of peace with the nation in association with the allied conferees.

Secretary Hughes instructions to Ambassador Harvey, Herrick and Child, it was understood, recounted the interests of the United States in subjects to come before the Lasaunne meeting for adjustment. Outstanding among these were said to be that of protection of racial and religious minorities in Turkish territories and other humanitatian considerations.

These considerations, the ambassadors were informed, warranted this country in observing closely the proceedings at Lasaunne. The wish also was said to have been expressed by Secretary Hughes that opoprtunity would be given American observers for attendance upon the meetings at Lasaunne where treatment was given subjects in which the United States was interested.

No statement was obtainable at the state department after the diplomats departed as to the personnel of the American observers who would attend the conference in Switzerland. In the event that this government follows precedents established at San Remo, Genoa and the Hague conferences the diplomatic representatives in the country where the forthcoming conference is to be held will be chosen.

THREE BROTHERS ARE INDICTED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Claim Concealed Assets Which Defrauded Shoe Merchants

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 28—The arrest here today of Art and Menard Kolbrenner on an indictment issued by a federal grand jury at Abilene, Texas, charging them and their brother, Jack Kolbrenner of Danville, Ill. with conspiracy to conceal assets in bankruptcy revealed a scheme which is said to have cost St. Louis shoe merchants and jobbers approximately $80,000.

The basis tor the charges against the three brothers grew out of their operations of retail shoe stores in Cisco, Abilene, Eastland and other small towns in Texas when the firm went into bankruptcy in December 1921.

An investigation carried on by the department of justive for more than a year has disclosed, according to the federal agents, that the three brothers who were doing business under the name of Kolbrenner Brothers Inc., paid few claims of their creditors. The agents further charge the brothers shipped from their main stores at Cisco, Abilene and Eastland, parts of their stocks to the smaller towns where the shoes were sold far below cost.

A canvass of the banks in Texas, the federal agents declared revealed that the brothers had not deposited any money in that state since they began business there.

After the closing of the stores the three came north, Art going to Danville, where he opened a department store, and Jack to Lafayette, Ind., where he started a shoe department in a department house already established.

Art Kolbrenner is also charged with prejury the charge being based on his testimony given at the bankruptcy hearing in Abilene.

CAPTURES GREAT EAGLE ALIVE

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 28.—Because a giant eagle measuring 6 feet, 8 inches, from tip to tip of his wings, which he captured alive a few days ago eats a while chicken at one "sitting," and other food in proportion, John Ambrose wants to have the bird placed in the Lincoln Park Zoo, in Chicago. Ambrose was hunting a few miles outside of Joliet, he said, when he came upon a tree loaded with crows. He shot into the flock and the eagle tumbled to the ground with two of the other birds. He had not seen the eagle which is the second one shot in this county during the past year. Another eagle was captured three weeks ago by George Berry of Plainfield near here, which measured 7 feet, 4 inches from tip to tip of his wings, Berry is also seeking a home for the giant bird "with an appetite like a family of six children," he says.

WINE INTERESTS OF EUROPE WILL AID WETS HERE

Raise One Million Francs to Help Fght Prohibition

(By The Associated Press)

Paris, Oct. 28—A large fund, reaching many millions francs, has been pledged by the wine interests of Europe to make a 'merciless" campaign against prohibition in the United States and other countries. The fight will be waged thru the newly organized International League Against Prohibition with headquarters here.

The American campaign will be carried on in cooperation with the liquor forces of the United States, it was learned today.

Organizers of the league say that they have little to fear from the prohibition forces in Europe. Their chief concern is to give every possible assistance to American wets. It is explained that the European liquor forces do not want to make the same mistake that the American prohibitionists did when they came to Europe preaching prohibition. Officers in the new organization will communicate with the Anti-Dry Leaders of America to offer the full support of their organization.

We are not going to America to ask the United States to overthrow prohibtion," said Jean Couprie, one of the French delegates to the Brussel convention, which organized the league. "We would probably be politely but firmly ejected if we did, and rightly, however we believe our cause is just as legitimate as that of the prohibitionists.

"American supporters of prohibition have taken the liberty of sending their apostles to Europe. We believe we have at least the right to offer our wholehearted support to American wets, if they will accept. They will find our organization amply backed financially and with a hundred million advocates back of it.

We believe Americans are much impressed by scientific facts and investigations by unbiased professional men. Tests of the effect of the moderate use of wines and beers on the average human beings are now being conducted by well known scientists and doctors. They will be completed in several months and will be passed on to America without comment.

"Further details of the American campaign naturally await the attitude of the American wets toward our offer of cooperation."

Count Bertrand Demun, president of the new anti-prohibitionist international organization is a former deputy and president of one of largest champagne companies in France. He was formerly an extensive exporter to the United States.

STATEMENT BY FARRINGTON IN HERRIN TRAGEDY

Head of Illinois Miners Makes an Attack on Brundage

(By The Associated Press)

MARION, Ill., Oct. 28.—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Mine Workers, attacked Attorney General Brundage, the federal prosecuting officials and and all money interests in a statement issued today following a conference with A. W. Kerr, chief counsel of the Illinois Miners and chief counsel of the union miners indicted in connection with the Herri mine killings.

"I am amazed," sad Mr. Farrington in his statement, "at the character of the course pursued by the prosecution in this case. I do not believe that the majority of the citizens of Illinois will look with equanimity upon the attitude taken by Attorney General Brundage in charge of the prosecution of these miners.

"Obviously a prosecuting attorney should go into court as a public servant with no other interests than those of the public behind him. But in the case of the attorney general we find that in place of the public, he is supported by the funds collected by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce from its own members and members of similar bodies thruout the state.

"It is also surprising to learn that the attorney general has apparently called upon the federal authorities for aid.

"A number of miners are not to be tried for murder, far from it. The fundamental principles of unionism are to be attracked in the Marion court house and all the forces whose selfish ends will best be served by destroying unionism in America are being moved up for the attack."

BOTH PARTIES ARE CLAIMING VICTORY IN IOWA CAMPAIGN

Statements Issued by Chairmen of Central Committees

(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 28.—B. M. Burnquist, chairman of the Republican state central committee and E. J. Fueling, chairman of the Democratic state central committee issued pre-election statements tonight both claiming victories for their respective party candidates for United States senator.

Chairman Burnquist expressed the opinion that Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, Republican candidate for United States senator would carry at least 90 of the 98 counties and that all of the Republican candidates in the 11 congressional districts would be elected.

Chairman Fueling said that he confidently anticipated the election of Clyde L. Herring, Democratic candidate for senator.

Mr. Furnquist announced that he had just returned from a tour of the state investigating conditions in local localities reported as doubtful.

"My observation is," he said, "that the voters of Iowa will go to the polls in unusually large numbers on November 7, and cast their ballots for the entire Republican ticket. They have become disgusted with the campaign of misrepresentation which has been carried on by the Democratis organization. Even members of the Democratic organization in Iowa are ashamed of the way the Democratic organization and congressional candidates have been thrown overboard by the Democratic managers in their desire to advance the interest of Mr. Herring, who was selected as their candidate by a few Democratic politicians in a Des Moines hotel. It is my belief that the voters whatever their party affiliation will vote the straight Republican ticket from top to bottom as a protest against such methods.

In his pre-election statement Chairman Fueling said:

"Mr. Herring will be elected to senate because the people of Iowa know him to be the better and the more representative man because the people of Iowa are Americans loyal and patriotic and are not ready to be delivered over to the Socialists.

"Four months ago Mr. Herring at Sibley, declared that Smith W. Brookhart was so aligned with the Socialists that he was himself a Socialist in thought and political preference. He then pointed out that Mr. Brookhart had, in February attended a radical Socialist conference at Chicago, the purpose of which was to capture as many offices in this year's primaries and general election as could be captured and then this winter to organize a new party, a liberal, labor radical socialist party—to enter the lists against both the Democratic and Republican parties in the next election.

"Iowa has not gone Socialist. It is still loyal, patriotic, productive, prosperous and progressive. It is not radical, Socialist, anarchisttic. Therefore it will send Clyde Herring to the senate and leave Smith Brookhart at home."

TRIBUNE EDITOR DEFINES NEWS

(By The Associated Press)

FRANKLIN, Ind. Oct. 28—The attitude of the modern newspaper is that of a secretary to society or a historian and it assumes no more responsibility, George C. Bastian, assistant Sunday editor of the Chicago Tribune said in an address to Indiana College and high school students tonight.

Giving a demonstration of what he terms news arithmetic, Mr. Bastian said:

"One ordinary man plus one ordinary life equals zero in news.

"One ordinary man plus one ordinary adventure equals news.

"One ordinary man plus one extraordinary achievement equal news.

"One chorus girl plus one bank cashier minus $100,000 equals news.

"One man plus an automobile plus one gun, plus one quart equals news."

FORMER PREMIER INVADES SCOTLAND IN SPEAKING TOUR

Addresses Great Crowds at Glasgow and Edinburgh—Has Not Revealed Any Constructive Program—Delivers Strong Attack on New Cabinet in Glasgow Speech

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The most important event of today's campaigning was the invasion of Scotland by Lloyd George. Supported by two of his cabinet colleagues, Lord Birkenhead and Sir Robert Horne, the former premier made speeches at Glasgow and Edinburgh, the two leading Scottish cities. There were great crowds at both places.

Mr. Lloyd George has not revealed any constructive program; the essence of his argument was the danger of swapping horses while crossing a stream.

Something is expected to come of the week-end party at the Earl of Balfour's Scottish home at Whittinghame. Mr. Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead and Sir Robert Horne will spend Sunday there. It is believed they will devote themselves to framing a platform or a plan of campaign.

The understanding between the servative and Lloyd George Liberals is spreading, altho it is the cause of much dissatisfaction among the extremists of both camps. There are now 31 constituencies where the conservatives have agreed not to fight the Lloyd George Liberal candidates. The conservative party organization has declared that the question is one which it leaves to the local bodies to decide, but there are charges that the conservative central office has informed several candidates to withdraw in the interest of the Liberals.

To his Glasgow audience Mr. Lloyd George delivered a strong, altho not bitter attack on the new cabinet. His argument was that the coalition government was slowly, but surely leading the country out of the troubles inflicted upon it by the war. He declared the new cabinet was not comparable to his in point of ability, and gave Balfour a most colorful tribute, describing his services to the country as immortal. eH challenged any one to advance a sound reason why his government should have been deposed.

Lord Birkenhead, speaking after Lloyd George paid his respect to the new ministers more sharply than the former premier had done. He said that when Mr. Bonar Law read the names of the cabinet in the papers, he must have felt like Wellington, who when some new recruits were sent to him, exclaimed:

"I don't know what effect these troops will produce upon the enemy, but they frighten."

From Edinburg the last stages of Mr. Lloyd George's journey with Birkenhead, which was by car, were marked by scenes of the greatest enthusiasm. It was an amazingly cordial reception the former premier had from the staid Scottish folk.

CORONER'S JURY INVESTIGATING HAVRE TRAGEDY

Mother of Mrs. Carleton Asks Impartial Probe in Deaths

(By The Associated Press)

HAVRE, Mont., Oct. 28—Official investigation by a coroner's jury into the deaths of the Rev. Leonard J. Christler and Mrs. Margaret Carleton lasted until late tonight, no witnesses being examined until the night session. The public was excluded from the inquest.

According to authorities, there were no developments tending to disprove the story of Mrs. Christler to the effect that she heard the shots in the next room opened the door and saw her husband and saw Mrs. Carleton shoot herself.

The jury was empanelled by Coroner James Holland Jr., this afternoon at the request of Mrs. J. H. Pyle of Helena, mother of Mrs. Carleton, who desired an impartial investigation of Mrs. Christler's version of the shooting. Coroner Holland opposed calling the inquest declaring himself convinced that Mrs. Christler had stated the facts in the case.

When the jury was completed its members were taken to the scene of the tragedy after which adjournment was taken to 8 o'clock, arrangements having been made to hear witnesses at that time.

COAL PRODUCTION SHOWS AN INCREASE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Expansion in coal production during the current week the geological survey reported tonight, brought the rate of output to a point "approaching adequacy" but still failed to supply much of a margin for storage purposes.

Preliminary railroad loading figures indicate a total out turn of 12,500,000 tons of which 2,003,000 tons was anthracite and the balance bituminous. This total is greater than production in any week since the settlement of the national strike last summer.

It is further reflected, the report said, improvement in the Monday, railroads loaded 43,243 cars of bituminous coal, the largest amount taken into transportation in any one day for two weeks.

SUGGESTS MOTOR TRUCKS FOR RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Railroads might well consider the advisability of establishing auxiliary motor trucking systems to supplement existing rail facilities in large cities, W. H. Lyford of Chicago, vice president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway told delegates today at the closing session of the highway education conference.

Such additional facilities not only would be found greatly convenient, but profitable, Mr. Lyford said, adding that auxiliary tucking is used in some cities. Trucks, he declared, are of the greatest aid in collecting and delivering freight to and from central terminals.

Officers In Battle With Coke Smugglers

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28.—Two governmen agents and a Baltimore detective battled with pistols against two alleged Spanish dope smugglers in the hold of the Steamship Oregonia at Locust Point tonight. The officers won the battle.

Then they seized $250,000 worth of cocaine manufactured in Germany and intended for distribution in the United tSates.

The Spaniards were arrested. They were charged with smuggling and with violation of the Harrison narcotiv law.

This was the biggest cargo of drugs ever smuggled into the United States in one lot the police say.

Since no one else has noticed, it is entirely proper for Isidore Levin to refer to himself as the wisest and greatest candidate for the Illinois legislature since the days of Lincoln.

The coal men are the only persons at all dissatisfied with this beautiful fall weather, but the coal men no doubt have secret hopes that their day will come and that the fine fall but presages an extremely cold winter.

The county commissioners and tuberculosis board have suggested a tax not to exceed one mill for the maintenance of the sanatorium because funds for the proper operation of the institution will not be available in any other way. That in itself is a good reason. The sanatorium was built at large expense. It is daily ministering to the needs of a large number of patients and the work should not be permitted to decline in scope or efficiency.

The pastor of a St. Louis church has been asked to resign. One of the complaints made against him is that he has taken in too many new members during his pastorate. Can you beat that?

The Elliott State bank will erect a new bank home in 1923. The Cloverleaf Life & Casualty Co. has definite plans for a new building, a modern hotel is in prospect and there will be some public improvements made in Jacksonville next year.

Taking these things into account, along with the number of private residences certain to rise, a great year is in prospect.

Two prominent churchmen have been shown in sensational way within a few weeks time and the church has been injured by the inference of wrong-doing and insincerity. But the memory of these two should be outweighed by the knowledge that thousands and thousands of clergymen, the ninety nine and a half per cent, follow the straight and narrow way, the path of rectitude and service.

Most of us have little conception of the business transacted thru the county court of this county. It is said that in volume as well as importance, it far exceeds the business of all other courts in the county combined. Directly or indirectly, it has contact with a very large percentage of the citizens of our community.

The work has been admirably handled during the one term of Judge Samuell. He is a young man with judicial temperament, legal ability, honest and courageous. He represents a type of citizenship which ought to fill the judicial offices of our country. He deserves the support of fair minded citizens of the county irrespective of party affiliations.

BRAIN SCARS

A physician who specializes in mental disorders tells us that a good many former booze-fighters are coming to him with this rather mysterious complaint:

"I haven't done much drinking since prohibition went into effect. The alcohol must be entirely out of my system. Yet I notice that, every once in a while, I wake up in the morning feeling as if I'd been on a big bat the night before and had a hang-over. I wouldn't mind it so much, if I'd really had the liquor. But paying the penalty for an imaginary quart of Old Crow is one straw too many on a dry and suffering camel's back."

This former old soak, according to the brain specialist, is a victim of the Law of Recurrences. To illustrate:

Were you ever poisoned by poison ivy? Probably you got it cured, seemingly out of your system * * * only to find that it comes back, year after year, at about the same month you originally contracted it.

Or a person subject to hay fever notices that the recurring attacks break out each year, almost to the same day.

A friend of ours used to have rheumatism in his right leg. The leg was cut off by a street car. As customary, he constantly "has the feeling" that his lost leg still is attached to his body, and he says he imagines he can move the missing member. This is because the part of his brain that used to move the leg still exists and is functioning.

Worst of all, at certain seasons this unfortunate chap complains that he is suffering from rheumatism in the lost leg.

All this is part of the Law of Recurrences—a periodical functioning of the brain and body, following the course of an established rut.

As with poison ivy and the seven-years-itch and rheumatism in a cut-ooff leg, the nervous system—and especially the brain—"runs in cycles." That is, when it becomes accustomed to reacting a certain way at definite intervals it continues its reactions by habit, even tho the exciting cause is discontinued.

The old-time chronic "bar fly" got his brain and general nervous system in the habit of having a periodical hang-over. And now, by habit, the delicate machinery of the nervous system stages a hang-over automatically, without any bottled-in-bond cause.

Time will gradually remedy this sad affliction of having a hang-over without a prior compensating jag.

What kind of habits are you developing in your bodily organs, your nerves and mind? Easy to understand why repeated attempts to be cheerful, optimistic, happy and healthy soon become a matter of habit—automatic.

COMPENSATION FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

At the coming election the people will vote on the question of adjusted compensation of Illinois ex-service men. If the measure passes the state will issue $55,000,000 in bonds for the purpose. Col. O. C. Smith for the American Legion post yesterday made public the following general statement with reference to the proposal.

Other states have provided state compensation as follows: Mass achusetts, $100; Michigan, $15 per service month; Minnesota, $10 per service month; New Jersey, $10 per service month; New Hampshire, $100; Missouri, $10 per service month; New York $10 per service month; North Dakota, $25 per service month; Oregon, $15 per service month; Rhode Island, $100; South Dakota, $15 per service month; Vermont, $10 per service month; Washington, $15 per service month; Wisconsin, $15 per service month; Ohio, $10 per service month.

Besides the fifteen states which have voted cash compensation since the world war, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Montana, and Pennsylvania have under consideration before a voter's referendum the question of a state payment of compensation. In all 40 states have pessed some kind of beneficial veteran legislation.

France has paid to her ex-service saldier up to $233.58; Great Britain up to $140.94; Canada up up to $600.00. The ex-service man of Illinois has only received $60 from the United States and nothing from the State of Illinois.

What Will be the Increase in Taxation?

Total assessed value of property in state, $4,201,000,000, which is half of the full equalized value.

One-half of $55,000,000, $2.750,000.

Five per cent interest on $55,000,000, $2,750,000.

Total required for first year if full amount is issued, $55,000,000.

Thirteen cents on each $100 assessed valuation will raise $5,461,000.

This would be 6½ cents on each $100 of full value of property returned in the state for taxation.

Full maximum will not be required and the interest will reduce $137,500 annually on account of the principal paid off annually. The above figures are on 5 per cent interest also.

It is a perfectly fair estimate that annual cost will be only 10 cents on each $100 assessed value or 5 cents on each $100 of full value to carry full compensation authorized by law of Illinois.

Compensation officials in the State of Ohio have recently completed a series of surveys on this question. This is how they are using it according to the survey:

	Per cent.
Payment of debts	15
Clothing for self	10
Savings deposits	25
American Legion dues	1
Lodge dues	3
Home payments	8
Rent and board	4
Doctor and hospital bills	3
Stocks and bonds	13.3
Clithing for wife, mother, etc.	5
Furniture	9
Living expenses	3
New business	0.2
Recreation	0.5
Total	100

Failure to vote using the small ballot is a vote no just as effectively as if the voter voted no. Proposal must have affirmative votes enough to equal a majority of the votes cast at the election for memmers of the general assembly.

MRS. E. D. SHURTLEFF VISITOR IN CITY

Wife of Well Known Jurist Spent Saturday as the Guest of Mrs. A. L. Adams and Miss S. M. Fairbank.

Mrs. Edward D. Shurtleff was in Jacksonville Saturday from Springfield, where Judge Shurtleff, her husband is holding the semi-annual session of the appellate court. Her home is in Marengo, Ill.

Mrs. Shurtleff while in Jacksonville was the guest of Mrs. A. L. Adams and Miss S. M. Fairbank. One purpose of her vist was to inquire into matters related to her family history, her great grand father, Augustine Prevost, having been a Morgan county pioneer. Tablets for Harriet Prevost Purkitt, a member of the same family, and her husband, George Tuckerman Purkitt, are included in the memorials at the Duncan home here.

Augustine Prevost was a member of an old French family which was exiled from France at the time of the St. Bartholmew's day massacre, one branch going to England. Augustine was the son of an officer in the British army who married in America, and whose widow later became the wife of Aaron Burr. Prevost seems to have held his step father in greater esteem than did most people at the time of his duel with Alexander Hamilton, and brought to Morgan county with him a record of the Burr family which was of use to generologists. This record is now in the possession of the Fairbank family.

While in the city Mrs. Shurtleff called upon Mrs. Sue Ellis, and visited the Duncan Memorial home of the D. A. R.

AGAINST THE KU KLUX.

To the Editor of the Journal.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, represents Protestant church members to the number of 20,000,000. Mr. Robert E. Speer is the president. The following statement has just been issued from the offices of the council:

The administrative committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America records its strong conviction that the recent rise of organizations whose members are masked, oath bound and unknown, and whose activities have the effect of arousing religious prejudice and racial antipathies, os fraught with grave consequences to the church and to society at large. Any organization whose activities tend to set class against class or race against race is consistent neither with the ideals of the churches nor with true patriotism, however vigorous or sincere may be its profession of religion and Americanism. Evils of lawlessness and immartality, however serious can never be remedied by secret, private and unauthorized action. They must be handled by the state and by the recognized forces of education. For groups of individuals wearing masks and concealing their identity to pass judgment on men and women and to carry out humiliating measures of their own devising, is subversive of every principle of civilized government, and undermines respect for the established agencies of law and order."

You will observe that the council opposes the methods of the Klan, "whose activities have the effect of arousing religious prejudice and racial antitipathies." Any intelligent American must admit that there is one church of Christ employing secret and subterranean political methods in many of our cities and doing it night and day. Must these methods be fought by "secret, private, and unauthorized action." Does true American Christianity demand that we "fight fire with fire?" It is the genius of Protestantism to depend upon the midnight conclave and secret conspiracy? Can we advance real Christianity and social morality by method of mystery and terrorism? I for one am inclined to think the Federal Council is right. Let us turn on more light and depend less upon darkness. Let us educate and publish fact upon fact. The Klan's paper "The Search Light" is certainly one legitimate method of spreading the light. Yours,

Thomas W. Smith.

WHITE HALL GIRLS AT HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Girls from Telephone Exchange Guests of Carrollton Operators—Other White Hall Items.

White Hall, Oct. 28.—Eight girls from the local telephone exchange were guests of the operators at Carrollton at a Hallowe'en party. The company comprised twenty-two, and a visit to a theatre was first on the program, followed by luncheon and games in the rest room of the Carrollton exchange.

Mrs. A. M. Carey has arrived from California, and is a guest at the Kendall home. She is 85 years of age, and came alone from Bloomington, having been at Farmer City for a short time. She is a descendant of the pioneer Smith family of White Hall, noted for longevity.

The Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Sunday school was banqueted by the Amoma class in the Fox business rooms in a manner that marked the event as one of unusual pleasance and importance. The new president, R. F. Ballard, presided, and also led the men's chorus in an appearance that was a real triumph The leading speaker was Rev. J. F. Brinkman, pastor of the Roodhouse Baptist church, on "Three-fold Attitude of a Men's Class." Rev. L. E. Ellison, teacher, spoke on the "Broader Outlook," and other speakers were A. M. Nevius, "Fellowship," Frank Dawdy, "Social Hour"; E. L. Wendell, "Miscellany"; Wm. Teter, "Connection"; J. F. Greer, "Publicity and What It Will Do." Mrs. Robert Livingston read a poem. There were 53 men present, and the ladies showed them such a good time as to bode for the future welfare of the men's movement. It was decided to meet monthly in the Fox quarters, providing there is no objection on the part of Mr. Fox. A letter from Dr. C. F. Sherwin, of St. Louis, contained $15 for the church fund, and the writer wrote feelingly of the debt he feels he owes his former church associates for their encouragemnt and aid in other ways that enabled him as a poor country lad to obtain a high school education and to further pursue learning until he has now become a practitioner on his own account in the great Missouri metropolis.

MANCHESTER MAN PRAISES BORUFF FOR CAPABILITY

J. C. Andras in Letter Says Morgan County Democratic Candidate is Well Qualified For Office.

Manchester, Illinois
October 13, 1922.

Jacksonville Courier:

During a period of industrial unrest, with costs of government and taxes soaring, it seems to me that voters should consider the actual merits of candidates for office, aside from politics men of real merit should be selected for office if economy is to be had. Formerly a resident of Morgan county, and at this time one of the largest land owners in the county, I have a special interest in the election of good men and economy in public affairs.

These things being true, and having in mind a candidate whom I have kown from boyhood, honest, straightforward and deserving, I feel it just to him and only fair that I say something in his behalf.

C. A. Boruff as a young man was the mainstay of his father's family. It was through his efforts that his brothers and sisters were held together and given an education. His life in his home community was an example of unselfishness and a desire to do his part. Surely these things show a man's character fully. I have had a great deal of experience with county officers in various counties. The county clerk is, I consider one of the greatest importance, dealing with matters relating to estates and expending taxes, etc., and during Mr. Boruff's time I found his administration of public affairs an example of what should be. My opinion has been strengthened by the opinion of many others who had much business with his office. Being a lifelong republican, I feel that no one can say I am influenced by prejudice, but that this edorsement is fair and in making it I am really doing a favor to fellow taxpayers who want to secure efficiency and honesty in public affairs.

Yours very truly,
John C. Andras.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR SUPT. PERRIN

Board Of Education Plans For Social Event in Honor of Retiring Superintendents—Josephine Milligan School Opening Same Date.

The Board of Education of Jacksonville invite all friends of the Public Schools to an inspection of the new Josephine Milligan school on Monday evening from 7 to 9. Also to join in a farewell reception to Superintendent H. A. Perrin, who is to leave for Joliet on November first.

Many of the people of Jacksonville have expressed themselves as desirous of an opportunity to tell Mr. Perrin of their appreciation of his work in bringing the schools of Jacksonville to their present highly efficient state.

The work as carried out in the newly completed Josephine Milligan School is the result of much study and work on the part of Mr. Perrin and a special Committee from the Board, consisting of Dr. W. P. Duncan, Henry Muehlhausen and T. H. Hopper. The following letter from Superintendent Perrin to the members of the Board makes clear the plan as it has been worked out.

October 28, 1922.

To President and members Board of Education:

In accordance with the action of the Board of Education at its last meeting, I am announcing the opening of the Josephine Milligan School to be held at the school building on Monday night October 30th, from seven to nine.

I am taking the liberty of inviting the public to this inspection. The school will practically be finished. At least, it will be finshed so far as the outsider will be able to distinguish and will be ready for school activities at any time.

It has been the efforts of the Special Committee in charge of revamping this plant to give the best service from the standpoint of economy and still keep in miad the fact that permanence is economy. I am sure that you will all agree that this committee has given generously of its time in making the rapid revamping of this plant possible.

Personally, I believe it furnishes the setting for one of the most unique pieces of work with reference to such a school that I have ever seen and if it is judicially and sympathetically handled, it ought to become a great asset to this community.

Very Sincerely,
H. A. PERRIN, Supt.

The Romance of a Mysterious Rider—Featuring That Popular Hero and Favorite

TOM MIX

—IN—

"For Big Stakes"

See Tom Mix and a clever horse break up housekeeping for a bunch of bandits.

Tom Mix, racing with a prairie fire at his back, saves his sweetheart.

Watch Tom Mix, single-handed, stand off a crooked band of twenty men.

See Tom Mix throw a crooked sheriff into his own jail.

Watch that famous horse belonging to Tom Mix untie knots and act human.

See the greatest romance of rough riding, straight shooting, trick roping, desperate adventure and quick-witted love-making ever enacted by Tom Mix.

Curling, hissing, crackling, roaring in its threat of destruction; sweeping all before it in a wide swath of mounting flame; advancing in leaping red surges that blackened all things in its passage; turning to ashes every grass blade that grew on the plain; sending ahead a blasting, seering, blinding heat—the prairie fire rushed in the path of the wind. And there, just ahead, was a rider whose horse needed no urging, although the burden he carried was double.

Many things are in the balance—life, love, property. And he wins them all, for red blood in his veins, and the call to give battle throbs in his veins.

This is just a glimpse from the new picture "For Big Stakes." Boys will like it for its outdoor adventure, men will like it for the punch it carries, and its romance will appeal to the ladies. No matter what their age or sex, everyone will enjoy this film entertainment with its absolute dash and utter daring.

RELIGIOUS FIGHT CALLS OFFICERS TO TOWN OF MEDORA

Baptists Diffrences Splits Town Into Two Factions

(By The Associated Press)

MEDORA, Ill., Oct. 28—A religious dispute today divided this entire town into two factions, following the visit here last night of Sheriff Morris and a force of deputies from Carlinville who were called here to preserve order in a church meeting. Differences between Northern Baptist and Southern Baptist doctrine, it is said, has split the congregation of the Medora Baptist church into two groups, each promising that court action will be taken to settle the dispute.

Rev. E. K. Cross, pastor of the church, charged that a band of 26 men led by Rev. William Dainer, pastor of two smaller Baptist churches near here, disrupted a regular busines meeting of the church Wednesday night by laughter, shouts and cat calls. The meeting was compelled to adjourn to last night, he said, so outside officers could be called in to protect the meeting, declaring that local authorities had refused to give his meetings protection.

Even with Sheriff Morris present the trouble continued last night, when Ben Jay, a member of one faction, is alleged to have attacked Morris Yotter, a member of the opposing group. Jay fled to the home of City Marshal Clampert for protection.

Trouble in the church has been developing for about three months, Rev. Cros stated. Two months ago officials from the district association of the Baptist church came here to investigate the situation and found the church doors barred against them. One faction of the church has been excluded from membership, and this is the group causing the distubances, Rev. Cross said.

RACE DRIVER MEETS DEATH

CLOVERLEAF TO BUILD IN SPRING

A new building will be added to the Cloverleaf Life and Casualty company offices in March of next year. Brick is being hauled to a lot neat the site, East and State streets for the foundation.

The addition will be 60 by 120 feet in dimension, and two stories in height. It will be of Bedford stone, and will connect with the present offices to the east. The frame buildings now occupying the site will be wrecked.

According to F. H. Rowe, president of the company, the growth of the business has necessitated increased office space, and it is only the inflated costs of building that have postponed the erection of the additionthis long.

THE GREAT CINCINNATI SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

When the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra appears here on November 1st, at the Grand Theatre, a body of some eighty artist musicians will be presented under the distinguished baton of its new conductor, Mr. Fritz Reiner, a native of Budapest, Hungary and famous throughout Erope as the greatest of all younger contemporary conductors of the present time. This is his first season in America. The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is made up of ensemble of artist musicians many of whom are famous on the concert stage as soloists. The fine organization travels on its tours in a train of three Pullman and one baggage car and the enormous expenses involved in a tour of this kind can readily be appreciated. Residents of this city and especially the music loving people will be given a rare treat in the concert to be given by this world famous organization and its brilliant young conductor.

"A symphony orchestra is not unlike a great organ upon which an organist plays. The conductor of an orchestra plays, not upon keys of ivory or of ebony, but upon the minds and hearts of living, breathing men—men who are musicians, tone poets, and artists who respond to the master touch, but, unlike the keys of an organ, they respond with heart and soul, and pour forth their own inmost feelings through their instruments each in sympathetic accord with the other and each one imbued with the spirit of the work of the master mind that is being interpreted." The above lines by a well known writer were inspired after he heard a concert by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

The visit of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra will be one of the big events of the local musical year.

About sixteen Odd Fellows of this city drove out to Arcadia Saturday evening and paid a visit to Arcadia lodge No. 92, I. O. O. F.

While some of the members knew of the intended visit, it came as a surprise to most of them. The meeting was very interesting. Each visitor had something to say. Harry E. Ogle, who had represented Arcadia Lodge at the Grand Lodge, made his report and then Judge William E. Thomson reported as to matters omitted by Mr. Ogle.

After the lodge session a nice lunch was served and cigars passed. The drivers of the cars were William E. Thomson, John T. Roberts and Henry Pulliam.

JACKSONVILLE DEFEATED WAVERLY HIGH

MITCHELL'S BOYS WIN FROM ANCIENT ENEMY IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Locals Score all of Their Touchdowns in the First Half But Lose Their Punch in Second Half—Waverly Comes Back Strong and Scores Two Touchdowns in Second Half

In one of the hardest fought games of the season Jacksonville high won from Waverly high on Illinois field Saturday afternoon by a score of 30 to 14.

The score, however, does not indicate how evenly the teams were matched. Coach Jackson has a team that fights all the time and never quits. This was demonstrated yesterday when it came back in the second half with the score 30 to 0 against it and scored two touchdowns and Hughes place kicked twice for the points.

In the second half the visitors outplayed the locals and kept the ball in Jacksonville territory a large part of the time. Waverly opened up with a forward passing game in the second half which the locals had lots of trouble in stopping. This, interspersed with end runs and line plays, kept the home boys busy as they seemed to have lost some of their pep.

For Jacksonville some excellent work was done by Hunt, Johnson, Corbridge, Massey and Arnold, on the offense. The Jacksonville line held like a stone wall most of the time, but Waverly negotiated several successful end runs, one by Harris giving them their first touchdown. Hunt negotiated a drop kick for three of the extra points after touchdown, while Johnson made the other thru the line.

For Waverly, Harris was the bright star on the offense, scoring both of Waverly's touchdowns. Hughes place kicked both of the gools. Massey was on the receiving end of one of Jacksonville's successful forward passes, which he carried for a touchdown.

First Quarter

Waverly kicked off to Jacksonville, the ball going over the goal. Jacksonville put the ball in play on the 20 yard line. Neither team was able to gain consistently in the first few minutes of play and several punts were exchanged. Finally Jacksonville kicked and Waverly fumbled and Jacksonville recovered within striking distance of the goal. A series of line plays put the ball inside the five yard line and Johnson carried it over. Hunt drop kicked goal. Score, Jacksonville, 7; Waverly, 0. Shortly after the touchdown the quarter ended with the ball in Jacksonville's possession.

Second Quarter

Shortly after the opening of the quarter Jacksonville carried the ball down the field by end runs and line plays and Corbridge made the touchdown. Hunt drop kicked the goal.

Hunt again kicked off and a Waverly man hit the ball causing it to bound back of the Waverly goal where it was downed for a safety. This made the score Jacksonville, 16; Waverly, 0.

Jacksonville again kicked off the ball rolling over the goal line and Waverly put it in play on the 20 yard line. Waverly made first down and then kicked. Jacksonville carried the ball straight down the field with a series of line plays and end runs for a touchdown. Johnson going over. Johnson also made the extra point. Score, Jacksonville, 23; Waverly, 0.

After the kick off Waverly was forced to kick. Massey, left end got away with a forward pass for a touchdown and Hunt drop kicked goal. The half ended before the ball could be put in play again.

Third Quarter

At the beginning of the second half Waverly kicked. Jacksonville returned the kick on the first play. Waverly opened up and with passes interspersed with end runs and line plays carried the ball inside the local's five yard line where Harris fought his way around the end for a touchdown. Hughes place kicked the goal. Score, Jacksonville, 30; Waverly, 7. The quarter ended with the ball in Jacksonville's possesion.

Fourth Quarter

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Jacksonville fumbled and Waverly recovered. However, Jacksonville immediately fumbled and Waverly recovered. The ball passed over several times. Then Waverly held and took the ball and started a march down the field in which forward passes played the leading part. The locals were unable to stop them and they finally put Harris over for the second touchdown and Hughes place kicked goal. Score: Jacksonville, 30; Waverly, 14. The final whistle sounded shortly after the ball was put in play, the ball being in Jacksonville's possession because of an intercepted forward pass. The lineup:

LEFT TO RIGHT: HOWARD JONES, MAJOR HIEL

When Iowa played played Yale the Jones family was a bit divided in its sentiments.

Yale, you know, is coached by Tad Jones; Iowa by Brother Howard.

Mother Jones hoped the game would end in a tie.

Dad Jones said if anybody must win he hoped it would be Howard, as the victory meant more to him than Tad.

Well, Howard won, as Dad Jones hoped and the first one to congratulate him was brother Tad.

Under Coach Howard Jones Iowa has been a big factor in college football for a number of years. One of his valuable assistants is Major Hiel.

Many Champions Lose Titles in 1922

Failure of Morvich and Slump of Ruth Outstanding Features

By BILLY EVANS

The year of 192 will go down in the annals of sport as a jinx season for champions.

Altho two months of the current year remain, champions in practically every line of sport have lost their titles.

Perhaps the biggest upset in sporting circles was the absolute failure of that great race horse, Morvich.

As a two-year-old Morvich was unbeaten in 12 starts. He was placed in the same class with Man o' War. No one disputed his right to the two-year-old championship of the turf.

What would Morvich do as a three-year-old? It has been the history of the turf that many a great two-year-old fails to perform consistently as a three-year-old.

Morvich Big Disappointment

Morvich won his first start, the Kentucky Derby, in impressive style. The Kentucky Derby is generally regarded as the classic of the running game. True, Morvich didn't face a strong field in the Derby, but he ran a great race.

The critics were ready to hail Morvich as the peer of all three-year-olds. Then something went wrong. In every other start during 192 Morvich was badly beaten. Favored to win every race he started he failed dismally each time out.

Unquestionably the absolute collapse of Morich as a champion was the outstanding feature of 1922 from a sport angle.

Mlle. Lenglen Comes Back

Another decided reversal of form was the defeat of Mrs. Mallory, American woman tennis champion, by Mademoiselle Lenglen. In their previous meeting Mademoiselle Lenglen had defaulted early in the match after being apparently outclassed. She gave as the reason, illness, but American tennis critics accused her of quitting cold.

The result of the clash caused much ill-feeling in French and American tennis cities. Mrs. Mallory invaded Europe to prove that her victory was not a mere fluke as claimed by Mademoiselle Lenglen.

The outcome was a decisive victory for Mademoiselle Lenglen and a terrible jolt for Mrs. Mallory and American tennis.

Golf Honors to Sarazen

Gene Sarazen, by his defeat of Walter Hagen, must be regarded as supreme in golfdom.

Hagan won the British open, Sarazen the American title. Recently the two met in a little golf world series and Sarazen emerged the victor.

While no actual title passed, Hagen for the time being lost his right to be classed as the greatest money player in golfing circles.

Marion Hollins, who held the woman's golf title in America was succeeded to the throne by Glenna Collett, the sensational Providence, R. I., player.

In boxing circles the defeat of Georges Carpentier, world's light heavyweight titleholder, was a decided shock. The fact that Carpentier was beaten by a comparative unknown, Battling Siki, made the result all the more startling.

Johnny Buff, by the way, was the heaviest loser of titles. Buff held the flyweight and bantamweight titles at the start of the year. Joe Lynch is now the bantam champ and Pancho Villa the flyweight title holder.

In baseball the fall of Babe Ruth was a tragedy. Home-run king for three years, monarch of all he surveyed in swatdom, Ruth was jolted from his throne by Rogers Hornsby.

All of which merely proves you can never tell what's going to happen in sportdom.

Michigan Defeated Illinois Score 24-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 28.—Beating down the stubborn defense of Bob Zuppke's men, Michigan won its second western conference football game of the season today, downing Illinois, 24 to 0.

Altho balked at many stages in the game by the Illinois line, Yost's machine took advantage of every opportunity, carrying the battle into Illinois' territory repeately during the second and third periods.

The Illini threatened the Michigan goal line only once. That was in the final period, when Zuppke's men smashed their way from midfield to within 18 yaads of the Wolverine goal, on line plunges and end runs by Happeney and McIlwain. Here the Michigan defense held.

In the opending period the Yostmen were almost helpless before the Illini, the Wolverines' revamped line not being able to clear the path for the backs.

Michigan opened the second period with a rush. Blott, center, intercepted an Illini forward pass; and a long forward pass, Goebel to Muirhead, followed by consistent line plunging by Cappon and Steger, put Capon close enough to the Illinois line to smash thru. In the same period the Illini backs muffed a punt, and Goebel recovered the ball on the Orange and Blue 14-yard line. Goebel kicked a field goal.

At the start of the third period, Kirk, a Michigan end, took the kickoff on his own 15-yard line, evaded the entire Illinois squad and sprinted 85 yards for a touchdown. In the same period, McIlwain, standing on his own goal line, punted to the Illinois 32-yard mark. A forward pass put the ball on the Illinois one yard line. A short pass, Knode to Uteritz, resulted in a touchdown.

Illinois failed to make a first down until the final period, when six were registered. Michigan made eight first downs in the game.

USE DECATUR LAKE FOR WILD GAME REST

Springfield, Ill. — Announcement by the State Fish and Game department that Lake Decatur, formed by the new dam in the Sangamon river at Decatur, would be made a rest place for wild fowl, will give the state two such places where game will be safe from the onslaughts of hunters. There is now a great rest place in Lake county.

The peculiar instinct of the winged creatures, according to William J. Stratton, chief game and fish warden, leads them to these protected spots by the hundreds of thousands during the hunting season. Provision will be made at Lake Decatur, he said, for feeding the fowl, and no one will be allowed to shoot them while they are within the protecting confines of the lake district.

The state is now stocking the lake with fish from the state hatcheries, and this, it is expected, will also be one of the largest fish preserves in the state.

Elmer Wyle was in the city from Waverly Saturday.

COVINGTON SETS DROP KICK RECORD

DANVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—Herbert Covington, quarterback on the Centre college football team, in the University of Louisville game today, made six drop kicks, one in the first period, three in the second and two in the third period. Figures on four of the kicks showed one from the 40 yard line; two from the 30 yard line and one from the 32 yard line.

Officials of the game said the feat constituted a world's record and that five was the best previous performance in a single game.

Ralph Barrows was a city visitor from Franklin Saturday.

NEBRASKA LIVED UP TO REPUTATION

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 28.—Nebraska's football eleven lived up to its reputation as a "wonder team" and walked and passed over the Oklahoma university machine today, 39 to 7.

After the first period, which ended with Oklahoma in the lead by one point, the Cornhuskers directed the play, counting two touchdowns in the second period, one in the third and two in the final period, while the Sooners battled helplessly.

It was the first time in history a visiting team had outplayed the Sooners in passing, Oklahoma's specialty. But Nebraska completely dazzled the Oklahomans in the air game and succeeding in tearing up most of the Sooner's passing attempts.

AMHERST DEFEATED BY OBERLIN COLLEGE

OBERLIN, Oct. 28.—Amherst, from the east, went down to defeat at the hands of Oberlin of the west today by a 7 to 0 score when in the first period Jones, Oberlin left half on a trick formation broke thru for a 30 yard run over the Amherst goal, and Wood booted the pigskin between the bars.

Middy Star Will Worry West Point

VINCENT CONROY

The big game of the year for the United States Naval Academy is the clash with West Point. In recent years the Middies have shown the way to the Army. Coach Bob Folwell is pinning his hopes on captain and quarterback Vincent Conroy to lead Annapolis to another victory. Conroy's play featured the work of the Middies last year.

Princeton Triumphs Over Chicago 21 to 18

BOTH TEAMS USED EVERYTHING THEY HAD DURING GAME

Princeton's Margin to Win Was Three Points Gained Thru Scores After Touchdown—John Thomas, Star of 1921, Again Shines for Chicago, Making all the Touchdowns

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Princeton Tigers triumphed over Chicago here today in probably the most thrilling football game ever on Stagg field. The score was 21 to 18, the margin being three points scored after touchdowns.

Each team crossed the other's goal line three times but the westerners had no one who could boot the ball over the cross bar in the face of the charging Princeton team and the fact gave Princeton the winning edge.

Probably every known play that would bring the supreme thrill into the hearts of the spectators was furnished in today's contest.

Forward passes, dashing end runs, spiraling punts, fierce line smashes and recovered fumbles all entered into the spectacle. Added to this were two desperate stands inside the three yard lines, one in which Chicago finally yielded the winning touchdown, and the other in which the Tigers staved off defeat by inches with only seconds of playing time left.

John Thomas of Jamestown, N. D., who was mainly responsible for Princeton's defeat 9 to 0 in 1921, was again the hero of the Maroons. He scored all three of the westerners' touchdowns but was stopped at the close of the game.

Every available seat in Stagg Field was packed and while the seating capacity was announced at 32,000, gate officials squeezed several thousand more persons in the stadium.

The first half was see-saw fight between two highly developed offensives. Chicago showed the greater power through the line but Princeton had an edge on aerial tactics. Neither team could turn the ends.

The Maroons enjoyed an unexpected advantage at the start, gaining ground steadily, under Strohmeir's and Pyott's punts. The latter drove the ball upwards 50 yards but Princeton's punters lacked full opportunity to display their wares as the home team tackles were thru and forced hurried work on every attempt. Chicago had first chance to score when one of those hurried punts gave them the ball on their own 43 yard line. The Thomas brothers carried the ball alternately and finally John pushed it over.

In this march the Maroons went 57 yards without losing the pigskin. The plays were mostly plunges off tackle and cut back. These were varied by a fast forward pass threat in which the ball was snapped as Strohmier jumped back but it went to a half back for a plunge thru guard. Baker was the only Princeton lineman who could do much with this attack and he was pulled out of position several times.

Princeton's short lead was gained quickly after the first Chicago touchdown. Cleaves ran a punt back to gave the Tigers another chance.

Snively shot a forward pass which Gray caught on Chicago's 5 yard line. The Maroons fought desperately but the period ended after only two plays. Starting from the three yard line Crum carried the ball over after three shots at guard and tackle. C. Smith put Princeton in the lead, 7 to 6 with a drop kick for the point after touchdown.

Chicago Takes Lead

Almost as quickly as the tide had turned Princetonward it shifted back again. Rohrke partly blocked a punt by Vangerbig and Chicago had first down only 28 yards from the line. Again the Thomas brothers started hitting the Tiger forwards and with six yards to go John Thomas shot across on a formation which included a forward pass threat coupled with a fake quarterback sneak. Almost the whole Princeton team was put out of position or off balance by this play. Caruso was sent into the lineup to add the extra point but was slow in starting his drop kick and it was partly blocked by Baker.

This made the count: Chicago, 12; Princeton, 7.

Tide Turns Again.

The Tigers threatened again after recovering the kickoff and gaining a first down by the air route on the 14-yard mark. But the Maroons stiffened and Fletcher blocked Beattie's attempt at a drop kick and recovered on his own 23 yardd line. Strohmier promptly booted the ball out of the danger zone.

The Maroons scored their third touchdown late in the third period. A desperate struggle kept the ball in Chicago's territory much of the time, the Maroons once recovering the ball on downs on their 15 yard line.

Pyott began to outpunt Cleaves and a penalty set the Tigers back to their six yard line. Cleaves' punt was short and bounded back to the 28-yard line.

John Thomas was sent back into thethe game at right half and the Maroon rooters rose enmasse, singing and begging for another score. Zorn and John Thomas responded nobly, carrying the ball over in five plays. Pyott's drop kick was a poor attempt but the score was Chicago 18, Princeton 7.

Again the tide turned. Dawson replaced King and passed the ball wide. Gray grabbed it and ran 40 yards for the Tigers' second touchdown. Newby kicked the goal and the Tigers were only four points behind.

Misfortunes pfled on Chicago then. A forward pass for 35 yards put the ball on the Chicago 33-yard line. Strohmeir interferred with the receiver on the next pass and Princeton was 15 yards nearer the line. Offside put Chicago back to her seven yard line. Cleaves plunged to the two yard line and twice the Maroons held. But on the third attempt Gray gained the necessary yardage.

Then the Maroons came back. Starting from their own 40-yard line they pierced the line and threw the ball with reckless abandon, but desperate accuracy. Five successive forward passes, one of which was turned into a penalty for interference with the receiver, put the ball on the Tiger's five yard line.

It was getting dark and the last Chicago's 22 yard line and after he had missed a drop kick, a short punt minute warning had been given. John Thomas was called on as usual. He went first to the three, then to the two yard mark and again to within two feet of the coveted line. Then Zorn was given the last chance. He dove desperately at the Tiger right wing, but the Princeton men saw him coming. Half a dozen clawing hands grabbed his ankles, sturdy bodies hit his legs and down he went for a half yard loss.

No Princeton team ever received a greater ovation for a last ditch stand than did Roper's men. The east stand was a mass of delirious sons of Old Nassau and as the ball sailed up the field under the impetus of a Tiger boot they poured on the field, then gathered to sing the time-honored "Old Nassau."

The lineup was as follows:

Chicago (18).	Position	Princeton (21).

California Expects to Repeat

Coach Smith Pleased With Material

By BILLY EVANS

WHAT about California?

Football enthusiasts in the east are already asking that question.

California's sudden rise to fame in the football world has caused Coach Andy Smith's eleven to be a much talked about aggregation.

Last year California was known as the "Wonder Team." At present that title will hardly apply, as a number of stars have been lost thru graduation, and the ability of their successors is still uncertain.

Coach Andy Smith, never inclined to be boastful, says California will again demonstrate its superiority by winning another western championship.

At this writing it looks very much as if California's most dangerous foe will be University of Washington. Coach Smith frankly admits that the Washington game is certain to be troublesome.

A majority of the stars in the Washington lineup this year are players who attended the same high school and have been playing football together for the past six years. This is sure to be a distinct advantage to the coach in developing team play so essential to success.

University of Southern California is not saying a great deal, altho it has high hopes for a most successful season. The material is good.

Stanford is an uncertain factor. The eleven will largely be made up of green material. A trio of last year stars remain: Wilcox, Ludeke and Captain De Groot.

California will again present a wonderful back field. The line is rather uncertain. It may develop into one of the best California has ever had. Several of the forwards have great promise but have yet to prove their worth under fire.

The famous "Brick" Muller is still on the job. Nisbet, whose remarkable punting featured the work of California last season, is back. In addition Coach Smith has Berkey Nichols, Erb, Morrison and Clarke.

Of the new performers the most promising are Spaulding, a halfback; Perry, fullback; Gallagher, center; Beam and Witter at tackle.

Coach Andy Smith is decidedly optimistic. He feels that with six members of last year's wonder team in the lineup, he should be able to develop another eleven that will win the Pacific Coast Conference championship.

ST. AMBROSE WON FROM HARMON'S TEAM

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 28.—St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Iowa, defeated Quincy college here today 18 to 3, clinching an otherwise uncertain victory by making two touchdowns with seven minutes left to play in the fourth. FORWARD PASSING RESULTS IN 7-7 TIE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28.—Forward passing as a means to touchdowns by each side gave a touch of the spectacular to the Yale-Army 7 to 7 game in the bowl this afternoon and brought to its feet the crowd of 76,000 spectators. It was these forward passes, executed after a slow first half, which put life into a seemingly listless game. After a kicking duel in which Wood, of the Army battled more successfully than Neale of Yale against stiff north wind in the first two periods, both teams opened up and put across touchdowns.

Altho Yale made seven first downs to Army's five, Wood of the Army by his marvelous punting and receiving of forward passes saved his team from defeat.

IOWA UNIVERSITY SWAMPS PURDUE IN GAME AT IOWA CITY

Hard Hitting Backs of Iowa Team Tear Great Holes in Purdue Line

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 28.—Tearing great holes in Purdue's line with their smashing interference and hard hitting backs, Iowa's big ten champions scored almost at will on the Boilermakers, swamping them under a 56 to 0 score in Iowa's second conference game of the season played on Iowa field here today.

Captain Gordon Locke, playing Parkin's quarterback position starred for the Hawkeyes in the first two periods, crumbling the Purdue line for gain after gain. Locke was given a rest late in the second period and remained out for the rest of the game. Parkin, who took the pilot's position in the third quarter and part of the fourth played up to the form he showed at Yale and reeled off run after run for gains of from five to thirty yards.

Coach Jones early in the second half began sending in his second string men, who kept up the scoring.

The Iowa offensive reached its greatest push in the second period when 21 points were scored on three touchdowns.

Only at the beginning of the third quarter did Purdue show any ability to gain. Three forward passes in that quarter had given the Boilermakers as many first down when Kadesky dashed in and intercepted their fourth aerial attack and raced 30 yards for a touch down. After that Iowa continued to score at will.

Due to the intense heat, both sides substituted freely. Parkin was put in the game for the benefit of his parents, who had come from Waterloo to see him play.

A WORD TO THE WISE

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an opertion would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." DRILL GREAT GAS WELL ON HARRIS FARM

P. C. Irwin Makes Find of Big Producer

Well is of 5,000,000 Size and Drill Has Penetrated Sand But Two Feet—Development Of Important Gas and Oil Field Now Seems Certain.

A gas well of 5,000,000 feet was drilled on the A. O. Harris farm northeast of Jacksonville Saturday by P. C. Irwin, the Iola, Kansas, oil and gas man who has been operating in this locality for several months.

Mr. Irwin said last night that this well makes it absolutely certain that there is a gas field here that will be immensely profitable. A well with such a pressure of gas is a rare find. The drill is now only 2 feet in the gas sand at a depth of 350 feet. Drilling was stopped then because of the fear that the increased pressure would blow out the tools and casing.

Drilling was stopped and with a casing head the flow of gas was stopped as far as possible and Mr. Irwin telegraphed for a "gate." This steel apparatus weighing about 400 pounds will be placed in the top of the casing and drilling can proceed thru it. Then it will be safe to go ahead with the drilling operations, for the well can be safely capped no matter how great the pressure.

Comparative Wells

It will not be surprising if this well doubles in size after the drill is sent to a greater depth in the gas sand.

The well on the Rayborn farm which Mr. Irwin cleaned out and deepened is a gas well of 250,000 size. The well that he put down on the Orear farm is of the 500,000 size. So it can be understood that the Harris well is ten times larger than that on the Orear farm.

Mr. Irwin said that the sand he has struck is different from that in either of the other wells. The depth is about the same as on the Rayborn farm, but the elevation is different and the formation distinctly different from that on either of the other farms. The rock pressure behind the gas is such that Mr. Irwin said last night there was no hesitation in declaring this a virgin field.

When it is taken into account that the average daily consumption of gas in Jacksonville is 200,000 feet, there will come some understanding of the size of this well on the Harris farm.

Under existing laws not more than 25 per cent of the capacity of a well can be used, but using this estimate this one well will produce more gas than is now being used by the whole city of Jacksonville.

Plan For Other Wells

Mr. Irwin will proceed with drilling just as soon as the gate is received and then will have still further facts about the gas field. He will also put down other wells and is understood to have oil and gas leases on about 4,000 acres.

At least one man will be constantly on guard at the well until drilling is resumed, and Mr. Irwin said last night that people should be warned not to go very close to the well at this time, as there are always fire and explosion dangers when a well is in the half equipped condition that is true of this one.

A gas field, it is claimed, is more profitable for the operators and owners of land than is one of oil production, and it is natural therefore that Mr. Irwin was feeling very exultant yesterday over his find.

The development of the gas field would without doubt be of immense benefit to Jacksonville affording as it would great fuel convenience and economy.

Great Possibilities

An abundant supply of natural gas piped to the city and distributed thru the mains of the local company would make possible much lower rates and certain industrial development. The indications are too that the field can be developed in a way to make possible the piping of gas to a distance as great as Springfield.

The existence of a gas field, according to Mr. Irwin, makes certain that there is also an oil field. However, it does not follow that the two are immediately adjacent. One gas field Mr. Irwin mentioned is located four miles from an oil field and in some other localities the oil and gas wells are separated at even greater distances.

However, without being oversanguine, one can say that the development of an oil and gas field have in Morgan county is now almost a certainty.

THOMPSON PRAISES OLD FASHIONED HABITS

Says This Habit of Lawyers is Thing Everyone in America Should be Grateful For—Danger in Curtailing Court Powers.

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD—The lawyer's habit of thought, which it is often charged is "old fashioned and conservative," is a thing which everyone in America ought to be grateful for, according to Chief Justice Floyd Thompson, who in a recent address here assailed the current movement to limit the powers of the judicial branch of the government.

"It is often said that lawyers are old fashioned and conservative," said Justice Thompson. "If this be true every man, woman and child in America who loves this country and the eternal truths imbedded in the foundations on which this government was built, ought to bow down in humble gratitude and thank providence for having raised up one body of men who are not willing to throw off all that is old, simply because it is old and take on everything that is new for no other reason than that it is new.

"Among the dangerous doctrines being preached by certain misguided citizens is the proposition that the judicial department of the government should be made subservient to the executive and legislative departments, thereby destroying the very principle which dostinguishes this republic from all other governments in the world. In order to prevent those in whom they lodged temporary powers of government from usurping the rights of the citizens, our fathers invented the device of three distinct, co-ordinate, co-equal repositories of the powers granted by the sovereign citizen to this government.

"It is a proposition too plain to be disputed that if the legislative department is to pass any sort of legislation that it wishes without regard to conformity with the constitution, then written constructions are absurd attempts on the part of the people to limit a power which it in itself illimitable. The builders of this government designed it to protect the rights of the individual and all minorities against the encroachment and oppression of a temporary majority, and if this government is to endure the independence of the judiciary must not be destroyed."

TO BUILD SEAWALL AGAINST HIGH WATER

Vicksburg, Miss.—Preliminary plans have been completed for the construction of a 4,000 foot seawall to protect this city from a 60 foot stage of water in the Mississippi river and to prevent a recurrence of the inundation in the lower parts of the city during the recent high water. The cost will be about $250,000.

The seawall will extend from the foot of Craine street to the Hill City compress levee. The plans provide for gates at the streets and approaches to the river landing which can be closed and made water tight as the occasion demands.

City Protects Girl's Voice

MISS MARION TALLEY

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The city council here has passed an ordinance prohibiting a young girl singer from appearing in concert.

Not that her voice is so bad—But so good.

She is Marion Talley, 15-year-old school girl who comes from Nevada, Mo. Mme. Schumann-Heink says she has "the voice of a century."

And the citizens here agree. They gave a benefit concert in a large auditorium, raised a good-sized fund and will pay for the girl's training.

But they do not want her to spoil her chances by singing too much before she's properly developed.

So the mayor took a hand and had the municipal ordinance enacted.

Consider Your Health

Your health is your chief business asset.

Look after it.

You look after your credit, your bank standing, your accounts.

Your health is more important than any or all of these.

Look after it.

A man in poor health can't accomplish very much.

It is a task for him to live long enough from day to day.

He doesn't feel like starting anything new.

He has to meet people, reasonable and unreasonable, and listen to their complaints, to their talk, to their opinions on this or that topic.

All this has its effect on the nervous system.

You need play now and then.

Getting into the open air is a great thing.

Make a point to do this two or three times a week.

An automobile ride into the country now and then will work wonders.

If you can't do any better, take a walk to Nichols park.

Make it a stroll, not a race against time.

Get interested in the children at play, in the squirrels, in anything that is going on around you.

The point is to throw off business worries, if only for a few moments.

Go to a picture show now and then.

In following the action you are compelled to forget your own problems for the time being.

Don't wait too long.

Take time to play.

POWER OF SMALL STREAMS COULD BE USED ON THE FARM

Illinois University Man Says That if They Were Properly Harnessed That They Could be Made to Light Farm Homes, Pump Water and Do Other Useful Things

(By The Associated Press)

URBANA, Oct. 28.—Pointing out that often small streams on farms are wasting their energy, R. C. Kelleher of the department of Farm Mechanics of the University of Illinois stated that in some instances these streams, if properly harnessed, could be made to light the farm buildings, pump water, or do other useful things.

"The first requirement in a water power project is that there be flowing or falling water," said Mr. Kelleher. "The amount of power that is available varies; first, with the amount of water flowing, and second, with the amount of fall. It requires about one cubic foot of water per second, falling thru a height of ten feet to make available one theoretical horsepower. A stream with a large discharge will furnish considerable power under a small head, but a stream with a small discharge would require a large head to furnish an equal amount of power. The head may be due to a natural fall or cascade, or it may be due to an artificial cocnentration of the fall.

"This fall of a stream is usually concentrated by either of two methods; first, by building a large dam at the low point of the stream so that the water level is raised by impounding the water behind the dam; second, by building a small dam at the high point of the stream and conducting the water thru a closed pipe to the low point, where the resulting water pressure will be exactly the same as in the first instance. A third method, not so often used, is one which make use of the kinetic energy of the water after it has been diverted from the natural channel and allowed to run down grade thru a penstock to the point where the power is developed.

"A large number of streams do not have enough power available for farm lighting and power, but many of these could be made to pump water for the use of the household or for livestock, if a hydraulic ram were installed. An ordinary ram may be used to elevate part of a flowing stream to a higher elevation; a specially constructed ram will pump a small amount of clean water with power derived from a larger amount of muddy or dirty water. The minimum fall under which a ram will operte in about two feet. The maximum height to which it will elevate water is about 20 feet. Its mechanical efficiency depends upon the ratio of fall to pumping head, ranging from 20 to 75 percent.

Types of Water Wheels

"If water is to be used as a source of general farm power one of the several types of waterwheels may be used. The common types of wheels being known as "undershot," "overshot," "breastwheel," "turbine," and "impulse," the last two types being probably the most extensively used. Of these the turbine type of wheel is best adapted to low heads and large volumes of water, and the impulse wheel is adapted to high heads and small volumes of water. If local conditions and requirements are make known to the manufacturer of small waterwheels the best size and type of wheel will be recommended in each case.

"The efficiency for well designed waterwheels ranges from about seventy to ninety percent. If the power is converted into electricity and then taken from a motor for belt work it is not probably that more than 50 percent of the theoretical power of the stream can be obtained. If the electric current is stored in a storage batter this efficiency would be reduced to around 40 percent. In general, the most efficient water power projects are those in which it is possible to transmit the power directly to the driven machinery."

IMPLEMENT DEALERS ARE COOPERATING

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Kans.—Western retailers of agricultural implements are cooperating in agricultural education for the sake of the future of their business, according to Herbert J. Hodge, secretary of the Western Retail Implement and Hardware Association.

"We want to do everything we can to keep the boys on the farm," said Mr. Hodge, "and observation shows that the tractor is a powerful inducement to that end. For that reason we are encouraging power farming. We also are enthusiastic about the Smith-Hughes act and the accompanying appropriation for agricultural training in high schools, and our members are working in conjunction with the agricultural teachers in getting up demonstrations of agricultural machinery.

"For example, a dealer will arrange with the teacher in his community to take a class in agriculture into the fields to witness a demonstration of plowing, harrowing and running a tractor, usually by a traveling expert. We recognize that the young boys will be our future customers, if we can succeed in restricting the exodus to the cities.

"Ambition to own a tractor, like one's neighbor, is as strong as the desire to own an automobile in the cities, and is a powerful influence in reconciling the rising generaton to rural life. With it goes the influence of education in improved agricultural methods."

DISPUTES STATEMENT REGARDING VETERANS

American Legion Officials Defend Ex-Service Men on Illinois Bonus Proposition — Ask Voters to Support Measure at November Election.

Many a childish argument has been advanced against granting adjusted compensation of veterans of the world war, but the latest to reach the headquarters of the American Legion is that "if the service men were paid a bonus they would squander it."

Opponents of the bonus apparently fail to realize that the men whom they now say would not know how to spend their money are the same men who were sent forth in time of danger to save the country. They knew how to fight, and the world knows they did a good job. Isn't it reasonable to suppose they can take care of their pocketbooks as well as defend the flag?

The American Legion believes the service men know how to handle their purse strings, but in order to convince others it has obtained the results of surveys compiled in states which have paid their soldiers a bonus.

There are presented herewith figures provided by the American Legion which show the results of a survey made in Ohio, which paid its service men a bonus of $10 a month for each month of service during the war.

Saving deposits, 25 per cent.
Payment of debts, 15 per cent.
Stocks and bonds, 13.3 per cent.
Clothing self, 10 per cent.
Furniture, 9 per cent.
Home payments, 8 per cent.
Doctor and hospital bills, 3 per cent.
Lodge dues, 3 per cent.
Living expenses, 3 per cent.
American Legion dues, 1 per cent.
Recreation, 0.05 per cent.
New business, 0.2 per cent.
Clothing for family, 5 per cent.
Rent and board, 4 per cent.
Total, 100 per cent.

"We believe," declared Commander Charles W. Schick, of the Illinois department of the American Legion, "that the citizens of the State of Illinois will do their duty by their soldiers when the matter comes up before them on a referendum on November 7.

"The adjusted compensation act calls for a bond issue of $55,000,000 in order to pay the bonus. This amount is spread over a period of twenty years, and means next to nothing in taxation.

"Certainly the little it does mean spent to help the boys who sacrificed so much for us, will not keep any patriotic citizen of Illinois from voting for the adjusted compensation act.

"Remember, voters, the adjusted compensation ballot is the small ballot, and is the one which asks if this state shall isue bonds of $55,000,000 to pay its soldiers."

MUSHROOMS ARE NOW FOOL PROOF

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Lovers of mushrooms as a food need no longer be ignorant of the poisonous members of the family. At the state museum here there is now the most complete display of mushrooms in the world, according to Prof. A. R. Crook, curator of the museum.

Henri Marchand, noted French scientist, now living in New York, arranged the risplay after an exhaustive study of the mushrooms thruout Illinois. Marchand camped out in the woods for many months to study the fungas at first hand.

The display is in a large glass case, containing a bit of minature landscape of Illinois. On one side of the glass enclosure is a small woodlanr on the other is a pleasant grove, while in between is an open prairie. The mushrooms of the display are artificial, being made of plaster of Paris composition.

Some of the mushrooms are represented as growing on trees, others at the base of the trees and others out on the prairie. Each variety of the plants growing in Illinois, of which there are about 100, is there, with a little card placed at its base, bearing a number.

A large chart near the case gives a key to the display. By consulting the chart one can find which mushrooms are good food and which are bad. If the card is black, the mushroom is edible. If it is red, the mushroom is poisonous, and if there is a tiny skull beside the red card, that mushroom is a deadly poison.

The most deadly mushroom growing in Illinois is the amanita phalloides. It occupies a prominent position in the case. One taste of this plant means death, it is said. Then there is the full brother of the amanita phalloides. It is the amanita muscaria of fly amanita. A bite of this mushroom will induce convulsions.

One way to tell whether a mushroom is dangerous is by inspecting its stem. If the base of the stem is enclosed in a little cup or shield, it is a signal to beware, for the mushroom is poisonous.

GIRTH OF BUSINESS MEN GETTING LARGER

(By The Associated Press)

OCTOBER, Oct. 27. — The girth of the average American man is gaining due to the greater amount of food and candy he consumes in the absence of alcoholic beverages, according to conclusions drawn from a survey of health in the United States, made public today by the National Life Insurance company.

'Men who used to treat guests friends and customers at bars, now entertain them at meals, buying food, pastries and sweets and other items that produce obesity," said a statement. "The result is that while prohibition has been beneficial in thrift, home building and peacefulness, it materially has helped fat to become an enemy to human longevity.

'Because the heart is directly affected by fat, the survey shows, an increasing mortality from disease of the organ. Except in the rarest instances, persons who live to ripe old ages are thin. Fat usually taken as proof of good health is in reality a sign of short life.

"Exercise too often is taken too violently, or merely results in increased appetites and enlarged consumption of food, off-setting the good results of athletics. Exercise to hold down obesity should be regular, not too strenuous and methodically pursued.

"The one way of stopping an increase in weight is to eat smaller amounts of food. "Always leave the tabel hungry' is a good motto."

DRYS NEED TO RAISE $25,000

Springeld, Ill. — Twenty-five thousand dollars is needed by the Illinois Anti-Saloon league this fall to print endorsements and otherwise to carry on the "campaign to keep the wet interests from controlling congress and the legislature," according to a plea of F. Scott McBride, state superintendent. "We are broke," he said.

Mr. McBride added that there were, in his belief, enough potential dry voters, but that they could not be reached with the Anti-Saloon league endorsement of candidates unless the endorsements were printed and distributed.

NEW METHOD OF JUSTICE IN RUSSIA

GERMAN SPEAKING MOVIE USELESS FOR FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Will Never Supplant the Ordinary Movies Abroad—German Inventors Hope to Finally Eliminate the Use of Orchestras in Theaters—Description Given of New Film

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN.—Despite the fact that success has crowned the efforts of German inventors at producing the "speaking film" it is foreseen that reels of this kind can never supplant the ordinary "movies" in the export trade. The handicap is obvious, since a film produced in German could hardly be expected to find a market abroad where the language would be sufficiently understood to make its showing profitable.

Promoters of the invention see a possibility, however, of some day making this type of film eliminate the necessity of having orchestras in movie theaters.

Two special showings have been given in Berlin recently in which inventors revealed their achievements in making sound synchronize perfectly with the movements pictured on the screen. Besides a demonstration during the middle of August at which a number of newspapermen were shown the "phonofilm' of Lee de Forest, of New York, there was recently exhibited before several hundred invited guests the "Tri-Ergon," an acoustic film invented by Hans Vogt, Dr. Jo Engle, and Joseph Massole.

Five devices form the backbone of the "Tri-Ergon." They are the kathodophon, or "electrical car," a special amplifying conduit; an ultra-frequency lamp; the photozelle, or "electrical eye," and the statophon, or "electrical mouth."

Seven transformations are accomplished in order to effect synchronization of sound and movement in the film. The sound waves to be repdoduced are first transformed into electricity; the electricity is converted into light, the light is changed in two separate stages into the silver blackening of the negative and positive films; these in turn are retransformed into light; the light again becomes electricity, and finally the electricity produces the vibrations conveying sound.

The "electrical ear" naturally is the first apparatus to come into play. Its outstanding feature is an ordinary metal funnel in which the sound waves are converged to pass thru a nozzle. Opposite this nozzle is a glowing rod thru which a stream of electricity courses. As the rod becomes heated it influences the surrounding air so that this is "ionized" making it capable of conducting a current. Secondary electrical glimmers thus appear bridging the space between the nozzle and the rod. These flashes represent the electricized sound waves.

These waves are magnified by the special amplifier and are fed to a vacuum lamp. The latter is of such construction that it reacts to any sound, covering wave intervals all the way from only 16 to as manq as ten thousand a second. Its light grows stronger or fainter with the volume of the sound. Its rays produce small stripes along the sides of the film. These stripes represent the sounds and run thru the film in exact coincidence with the movements in the picture. The interval between them varies according to the wave interval. The line of stripes runs 50 centimeters' removed from the picture itself.

In the reproduction of the sounds an intense light stream passe thru the stripes of the "electrical eye." The "eye" is a bulb thru which an electrical stream passes. Its interior surface is partially coated with a chemical substance possesisng the property of separating electrons. As this process develops, the conducting power of the photozelle increases. The electrical stream passing thru it increases or diminishes with the volume of the sound waves.

Recorded By Electric Mouth

These phenomena are again amplified and recorded by the "electrical mouth." This instrument comprises mainly a membrane 30 centimeters in diameter which is vibrated by electricity rather than by magnetism. It is claimed to be the first actually workable telephone capable of transmitting loud speaking.

Thus the sounds issue out into the air from the membrance at the same time the picture is projected. The "gramaphone" element is eliminated entirely, yet to a person in the audience the sounds seem to be coming from an instrument of that kind set up immediaely behind the screen where the picture appears.

At the public demonstration the program included sounds as varied as a pig's squeal and the tunes of a barrel organ, to arias from leading operas. A short speech of introduction was given by the same means in German, English and French. One number was a recitation , other features were vocal and instrumental and one act of a drama was reproduced. In the last mentioned the tinkling of a hand bell run by one of the characters was heard coinciding with the movement in the picture, and the footsteps of actors walking about a bare floor were reproduced realistically in sound. In another section of the program there was the verylifelike barking of a dog, and the sounds of the animal's claws could be distinctly heard as it moved restlessly about on a wooden bench.

Generally speaking, the reproduction appeared to function better for staccato sounds, such as the notes of xylophone, flute, clarinet and mandolin. In violin and 'cello playing, and in singing tones of every high or very low register, there was considerable mechanical scraping such as one hears from a worn record on a talking machin.e

JAPAN PACIFIC BY THE ANCIENTS

London—Scientists searching in the ruins of Carthage, in Northern Africa, have torn the veils from the insoluble mysteries which 2,000 years ago attended the worship of the Goddess Astarte. Astarte was associated with Baal as the chief diety of the ancient Phoenicians, of which race the Carthanginians were on of the most important branches.

The scientists have discovered sacrificial vaults in the inner sanctuary of the Temple of Asstarte, each of which contains the charred bones of thousands of infants ranging from newborn babes to babes of one to two years old. The piles of bones are fifteen feet dep. They believe they have found one of the tempres where secret rits of human sacrifice to Astarte were practised from the seventh century before the Christian era until the days whn the Romans conquered and destroyed Carthage and forbade further sacrifices.

GERMANY UNABLE TO TRADE IN ARGENTINA

Buenor Aires—Dr. Walter Simons, former German minister for foreign affairs who is in Buenos Aires in connection with the International Law Conference, declares that the commercial relations between Germany and Argentina have come almost to a standstill. The reason is, he explains, that Germany has no money with which to do business, all her cash supplies having been turned over to the reparations commission.

WILD BURROS IN NEW MEXICO

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Texas—Burros run wild like deer on the ranch of Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, according to C. J. Blanshard, statistician for the United States Reclamation Service, who has been on the ranch, making pictures to be used this fall by the reclamation service.

"Ascending a steep bank," Mr. Blanchard said, "we ran into a herd of burros as wild as any deer in the forest."

Secretary Fall has two hobbies according to men hired on his ranch—fine horses and pure blood cattle. He has one ranch given over almost entirely to Hereford cattle. He is breeding horses from some of the finest Kentucky animals.

"Several winding horseback trails are favorite haunts of the secretary. Some of them lead to deep canyons and others to elevations which command views of desert and plains of seemingly endless expanse. Turning back from these momentary vistas and day dreaming, one gallops thru maginficent forests of oak, pine, and aspen, where a dozen sparkling brooks descend in cascades and waterfalls."

HYDRO--ELECTRIC POWER SHOWS GROWTH

Tokio—Power produced by hydro-electric plants in Japan continue to show steady growth The generating power recorded an increase of 40,000 kilowatts during the first half of last year over the corresponding period of the preceding year, and an increase of 81,000 kilowatts during the first half of the current year over the corresponding period of the preceding year.

This growth of generating power is chiefly due to the development of hydro-electric enterprises The official returns recently published put the increase of the capital last year at 94,000,000 yen. and this year at 144,000,00 yen. The number of companies, however, records quite a limited growth. This fact is due to the amalgamation of minor concerns. The Tokio Electric Light company has registered an increase of its capital in consequence of amalgamation by something like 54,000,000 yen during the first half of the current year.

C. E. HUDGIN

South Main Street

Billion Dollar Bug

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Oct. 28, 1922—In view of the sensational reports relative to conditions in the South, especially due to the boll-weevil, Roger W. Babson has been asked to make an analysis of the Southern situation as it now appears from the view point of a statistician. Mr. Babson's statement is as follows:

"In the so-called 'cotton belt,' is produced 60 per cent of the world's supply of cotton. In fact this cotton crop has been so important that the South has practically given its entire attention to cotton and thus become a 'one crop' country. The boll-weevil is now destroying a large percentage of this cotton crop, so that in many sections only one bale of cotton is gathered where two were originally produced. Of course, great eforts are being made to control the boll-weevil, and science will ultimately find a solution to this problem. In the meantime, however, there are several factors to be considered.

"First, our supply of cotton will be greatly reduced until this weevil is controlled. The amount produced for the next few years may not be more than half of the requirements of former years. This means that high prices may be expected both for raw cotton and for all manufactured cotton goods for some time to come.

"Secondly, the South, which has been a 'one crop' country, will be forced to raise other crops and became at least self-supporting. In previous years the South has imported from the Middle West nearly all the corn and a large proportion of the meat which it has consumed. This year the South has raised sufficient corn for its own use. It is also successfully ridding itself of the 'tick' which is so detrimental to raising good cattle. Herds of fine stock are rapidly increasing, and the South, which has an ideal climate for all-year stock grazing, should soon be one of the most important stock raising sections of the country. This means that the Middle West will have a serious competitor in corn and stock raising.

"The third factor to consider is that the South will steadily increase its manufacture of cotton into finished goods. Already it is shipping large quantities of these manufactured cotton goods into the northern states. These southern mills can produce very economically and are at the source of the raw materials. This means that the coton mills of the eastern states will have serious competition. Owing to the present immigration restrictions, these northern mills will soon be greatly handicapped as to labor supply which fact shauld also aid the South.

"A fourth factor is that the southern farmers are employing less labor on their farms than under previous conditions, many of them reducing labor one half. The reason is that the farmers are planting a larger acreage in corn, hay, and other crops and less acreage in cotton. These other crops require less labor to work than cotton does. Today there is a very considerable unemployment of farm labor in the South. This means that there will be ample labor for cotton mills and other forms of manufacturing, and for the development of natural resources.

"Fifth and finally, the South is realizing its need of effort and struggle in order to hold its economic position. The boll-weevil is forcing upon it a new economic conditon which it is now bravely struggling to meet. I believe it has the will to meet these new conditions, but it needs capital. The South has large undeveloped resources. It has coal, mineral deposits, and water power. Its seaport cities have good harbors which are strategically located for commerce with Latin America and Southern Europe. Thus, as the South more fully realizes and grasps the opportunities which it holds, it will grow and develop rapidly into commercial importance. This means that during the next few years the South will offer many very attractive opportunities for the investor. Just at present the South is hard hit by the boll-weevil; but this very fact is bringing it to a realization of its needs and opoprtunities. Thus, within a few years, a new economic condition should be established and the South should be more prosperous than at any time in the past."

The Babsonchart index dropped off one point this week, standing now at 4 percent below normal. This recession, however, has no especial significance. Further advance should be expected during the coming month.

Having rented my farm, situated 3 miles south of Prentice, I will hold a closing out sale, Nov. 1, 1922, consisting of farming implements, harness, horses, mules cattle, hogs, sheep, hay, and apples on tree. Dinner served by Ladies Aid of Berea church.

Dunsany, Lord. If. This is the story of a man who one day, years ago missed the train to town and then the play goes on to tell what all he missed besides the train. The scene of the play is in the East and concerns the powers of magic crystal which "handed" ten years of a man's life and substituted ten others. Try to imagine in your own life what might have happened if at some particular moment in your own life you had acted differently. The little world full of meaning after all. This is an amusing drama that will please all readers. Get it at the public library.

O'Neill, Eugene. The hairy ape; Anna Christie; The first man. These three plays are bound in one volume. The Hairy Ape won the Pulitzer prize in 1922. It is the story of the inner struggle of a man at the fiery furnace of a great steel plant. Suggestions of a strike enrage him. He feels that he is the power that makes iron and steel move, that makes coal pay, that makes steam live. A girl changes everything. She looks at this giant at the furnaces who is dominating everything and everybody and she is aghast. She screams that he is not a real man—he is an ape—then, shrieks again. So doubt enters his mind—a doubt that consumes him. Finally in despair he goes to the zoo to join his comrades—gorillas. He looses the cage, the beast comes out and enfolds him in a vast and deadly embrace. This is one of O'Neill's best dramas. Get it at the public library.

O'Neill, Eugene. Anna Christie. This is a drama of real people. There is the kind, drunken old father as jealous as can be who is a Swede barge captain. He must part with a sodden old prostitute when his daughter turns up from the West to live with him. The daughter comes out of a hospital, a jail and a brothel, hating men, hiding her past, and finding a strange blind cleanness in the quiet of the sea. Then there is the bragging Irish stoker with the love and hate surging in him. To know the rest of the drama get it at the public library.

O'Neill, Eugene. The First Man. This is the story of the savage inner struggle of a man who loves his wife with an estatic, inconsistent passion, as he sees her about to bring into the world a child who will involve her most sacred allegiances and break the singleness of the bond between them. This play shows that the dramatist has an inventive mind and a superior intelligence. Mr. O'Neill is regarded as the greatest of the younger dramatists and his position is made firmer in this four act drama in which that ironic fatalism so characteristic of him is augmented by keen touches of satire. The dramatist has dared a great deal in these plays. They are only for mature minds to read and see played. Get the book at the public library.

Lincoln, Joseph C. "Fair Harbor." This is the newest novel by that famous writer of sea tales and this has a laugh on every page. When the world needs a laugh Joseph C. Lincoln always rises to the occasion and puts out a new novel. If you wish to be put in a real rollicking good humor try reading the book "Fair Harbor." This novel has a central character that all will like at once and welcome as a friend, and this new book will win many more friends for the author, as it contains one of those happy fictional characters that the whole world learns to like and love. It makes no difference whether you have read any of the others by the same author or not you will like this one. It is the story of a crusty kindly old fellow, whose business in life has been the captainey of ship's crews and one day he finds himself in command of a home for the wives, sisters, and daughters of the followers of the sea. Cap'n Sears Kendrick has had misfortunes in a business way and has just emerged from a railroad wreck with a broken leg. Circumstances conspire to push him into the comfortable haven of the management of "Fair Harbor," which is a home for Mariner's women. Here is a situation of sheerest humor; an old sea dog made a director of a group of women as contankerous as can be; such a group of women as only Lincoln can create. The sign that hangs upon the gateway of the institution reads like this: "Without the stormy winds increase, within the harbor all is peace." Trouble enough arises tho from within as well as from without. There are the women folk, to whom Cap'n Sear's "quarterdeck voice of command" comes with a shock of surprise, there are persons unscrupulous enough to conspire against the finances of the institution and its inmates. Each character stands out in the readers mind as separate but all work together in the thread of the story to show Lincoln's ability to uncover the humorous quirks of mankind and womankind. It is full of good natured fun and no dark corners in the story and a delightful romance also appears in the book that will entertain all readers.

Joseph C. Lincoln is a wholesome, hearty, straightforward American writer for Americans—there are qualities in his novels that are essentially American and the man in Maine on the coast will enjoy his writings as well as the man in Montana or Texas or in any locality of the United States. A laugh sounds much the same all the way from New York to the Golden Gate and here is a novel that will set all the readers laughing. Get it at the public library.

New book donated by Wayne Gard of this city. Anthology of Newspaper verse for 1921. Edited by Frank P. Davis. This is the latest book of verses collected from newspapers all over the country from all the states and largest cities. By general consent, Dr. Davis' Annual volume of newspaper verse has achieved the distinction of being not only the poetical landmark of the year, but a work of general historic interest. Newspaper verse strikes a chord that is paramount in the news of the day. It is of universal appeal. Newspaper poetry voices the sentiment of the people. To know your country you must understand the thought of its citizens. This is best shown through its newspaper verse. Many of the most prominent of the newer poets have contributions in this little book, among them being our own Wayne Gard of this city, who is at teaching in Burma, India. The book is a very worthy donation from Mr. Wayne Gard and the library takes great pride in adding the volume to the shelves. It will be of great help to all who are studying the present day trend in modern poetry and will be read with interest by all lovers of poetry. Get it at the public library.

Why the "Morning Grouch?"

Many people awake feeling irritable and nervous—and are annoyed at trifles they wouldn't notice at any other time.

This nervous, irritable feeling lasts until after they have had their cup of coffee—sometimes it takes the second cup.

The reason for this is simple; their nerves are crying out for the caffeine contained in the coffee they crave.

And now, if this "strikes home," ask yourself why you should not quit a habit that makes you nervous and irritable.

Be your natural self; try doing without coffee for a week or so—and drink rich, fragrant Postum instead.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—refreshing and satisfying, yet absolutely free from caffeine or other harmful ingredients.

Postum comes in two forms:—Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling fully twenty minutes.

Fear Joker in Soldier Bonus

Legionnaires Say Bill Is Constructed In Peculiar Manner.

(By The Associated Press)

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—Has a joker been slipped into the state soldier bonus bill? Some members of the American Legion investigating the matter have complained that there is something peculiar about the number of votes required to make the law effective.

It appears from a reading of the bill, the legionnaires said, that a majority of votes cast for members of the general assembly at the coming general election will be resuired to pass the law instead of a majority of votes cast on the propisition.

The last section of the bonus act reads as follows:

"The provisions of this act for contracting the debt of $55,000,000 and issuing bonds to that amount and for levying annually a tax to pay the interest and principal of these bonds as herein provided, shall go into full force and effect upon receiving at the general election at which it is submitted, the majority of votes required by Section 18, Article IV of the Constitution."

Section 18, Article IV of the Constitution referred to provides that the state cannot contrac such a debt unless the law authorizing it shall receive "a majority of the votes cast for members of the General Assembly."

It is apparent, according to legion members, that the bonus act must receive a much greater vote to pass this provision than would be necessary if only a majority of the votes cast on the proposition itself were required.

Many inquiries have been made by those interests in the act at the office of Secretary of State Emerson as to the exact wording of the bill, but whether legal assistance would be enlisted to discover if the bill is properly worded has not been determined.

CENTURY OLD DREAM MAY COME TRUE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS—The century-old dream of converting Grand Isle, located on the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles south of here into one of America's greatest resorts, is revived with the announcement that a meeting of men interested will be held here October 20 to further the project.

Options on 3,500 acres of land on the island are reported to have been obtained by the promoters who plan the construction of a seawell, hotels, cottages, etc., at an itial expenditure of $10,000,000.

A monorail system for transportation from New Orleans to heisland is included in the plans. This system has an overhead track along which suspended cars can be borne at a high rate of speed. This metod is used chiefly in Europe but the promoters believe the Grand Isle route ideal for i. American scale.

Traffic Problem One of Chief Things of Interest—Merchants Gift Campaign Also Will be Big Event.

While the interest of the Chamber of Commerce is centered at this time on the project known as the Automobile Day and Hallowe'en Festival, a great many more undertakings are being engineered by that organization.

The solving of the traffic problem in the business district is occupying the time of about fifty committeemen divided into small groups of three each. These groups are meeting almost daily at the Chamber of Commerce rooms trying to solve their particular problems.

Another committee composed of seven men is working out a program of holidays for the different stores in the city to be used during the coming year, beginning with Thanksgiving. The committee is representative of the different businesses in Jacksonville. Another committee of twelve men and women are making plans for the staging of an Armistice Day celebration in the city and will hold their organization meeting sometime Monday.

Another project being engineered is the Merchant Gift Campaign which promises to be the largest events of its kind ever worked out by the Chamber of Commerce. This project is being handled by a committee of seven men and great progress is being made. The industrial committee will hold a meeting Tuesday afternoon to consider plans for the improving of one of the local factories by enlarging it to three times its present capacity. This committee also has other projects in mind for the industrial development of Jacksonville.

The forum committee composed of five men is working out a winter program for the membership meetings and are arranging a very good series for this season. The larger work of the organization, such as hard roads, new hotel, sewer system, and street paving is occupying the time of special committies who are doing very good work.

BLOOMINGTON TO BUY CEMETERY PLOT

Bloomington, Ill. — Because five boys who fought in the world war lie buried in a lot in Park Hill cemetery that has never been paid for, citizens of Bloomington are contributing to a fund for the purchase of a cemetery plot for exservice men.

The lot in which the five are buried, was selected by a committee of the McLean county board of supervisors on the assumption that the board would pay for it. But after the burial, it was discovered that the county had no legal power to do so. The five soldiers died here without funds or friends.

This condition has inspired residents of the city to undertake the creation of a special cemetery for the former soldiers, and a portion of the Park Hill burial ground is to be set aside for this purpose, if the campaign for funds is successful.

POLITICS BOILING IN WILLIAMSON

Riots At Herrin Complicate Things in Fall Election—Lots of Betting on Result.

(By The Associated Press)

MARION, Ill., Oct. 28—The political situation in Williamson county, Illinois, normally Republican by a very large majority, is so busy that betting for the first time in recent years has been even money on practically all candidates for county officers.

The hottest fight is being made upon the Republican candidates for sheriff, county clerk and county treasurer. The election of the republican nominees for county superintendent of schools and county judge have been practically conceded.

The Herrin troubles complicates the political situation. Republicans and democrats both nominated their tickets in the spring, before the mine trouble, and with the exception of democratic nominee for county clerk, are just the same as nominated then.

James Felts, one of the most popular democrats in the county, editor of a Marion daily and a former state representatice was selected by the county democratic central committee to fill a vacancy for county clerk caused by a resignation. His republican opponent, Deputy Sheriff S. E. Storme, was in office at the time of the fatalities. Storme was formerly a coal miner and holds a union card.

Is Not Miner

Sheriff Melvin E. Thaxton, the republican nominee for county treasurer has the unanimous support of the republican county central committee. Altho it has been stated he was a union coal miner, that is untrue. Previous to becoming sheriff he was a farmer. A fight upon him is being made, because of alleged failure to ask for troops at the time of the mine troubles. His supporters are pointing out that he was absent from the county on duty at the time of the killings and telling of his personal bravery in other cases, notably, when he fought thirteen prisoners single handed when they were trying to make a jail delivery. His democratic opponent is George B. Calhoun of Marion, who operates a battery service station in this city. He was at one time a mine manager.

George Galligan, a union coal miner, is the republican nominee for sheriff and is opposed by Walter E. Clayton of Johnston City, on the democratic ticket. Galligan is known as fearless, and when his half brother and nephew were indicted in connection with the mine killings he took them into custody as a private citizen and brought them to Marion, lodging them in the county jail.

The miners have no special ticket in the field. The miners normally have cast a large republican ballot.

Methodist Memorial at Chateau-Thiery

(By Rev. Julian Wadsworth)

2 Place des Etats-Unis Chateau-Thierry, Aisne, France, 11 October, 1922.

Editor of The Jacksonville Journal:

It has been a pleasure to feel that our old time friends in Jacksonville are coming to have a personal interest in Chateau-Thierry with a number of new ties which have been made by those who have been with us from there.

Miss Rose Ranson of Mound avenue, a graduate from the Woman's college, having majored in French chanced to visit us in a group of tourists more than two years ago. We persuaded her to change her plans and remain thru the winter. She rendered valuable service in cataloguing the library and in teaching classes in English.

Miss Mary Wadsworth, our niece came over for a visit when we succeeded in capturing her heart for these boys and girls of Chateau-Thierry, and she remained nearly a year and a half rendering efficiently all kinds of social service. "Mees Marie" evidently still holds the hearts of many here.

Miss Dorothy Yates, another niece from Jacksonville originally came over to be with us for six months and took up the classes in English and helping to receive the American visitors. She also left a warm place in the hearts of our friends here.

And now we are having with us for the winter, Mrs. E. C. Lambert, sister of Mrs. Wadsworth. We are trying to guard her from the more strenuous demands of the house, but with her usual gracious way she makes her presence felt by all our visitors and is helping to make the Methodist Memorial more nearly realize our dream for it.

Chateau-Thierry does not lose its attraction for American visitors. The caretaker at Belleau Woods told me the other day there had been over nine thousand registered visitors to the cemetery during the summer. We are glad to say that of this number between four and five thousand took time from their hurried visit to the battle fields to stop at the Methodist Memorial.

It has been a joy to have them come in such large numbers. Hundreds of them had not known before coming into the building of the character of its work. Many have said, "we would not for anything have missed this visit to the Methodist Memorial. It will stand out as one of the bright spots in the midst of the terrible devastations of the war." At times tears have been in the eyes of those who have spoken of these contrasting scenec.

Our visitors have evidently come from widely differing circumstances in the homeland. Among them have been multimillionaires in costly limousines, school teachers with slender allowances, highly commissioned army officers, and demobilized American doughboys. All have seemed to find fascination in this war-scarred little city which become sacred to all who will visit it because of the precious dust of the American soldiers who gave their lives here in 1918. Almost invariably our visitors have expressed their pleasure in finding that the Methodist Episcopal church has founded and is supporting a work of this character in Chateau-Thierry.

Among the visitors we have been most interested in welcoming those who have made the long journey to the graves of their boys. Again and again they have told us of the sacrifice which they have made as they have permitted us to come into the hallowed presence of their grief. It has been a pleasure to see the comfort which these have found as they have seen the marvellous beauty of these hill tops of the Marne and have noted the exquisit natural setting of the national cemetery in the quietness of the pastoral scenes of Belleau. Plans are now being executed by the government which will make it for all time a memorial of finest art. Many have said, "We are now quite satisfied to leave our precious boys in France, for the field upon which they fell has become sacred by their dust." It will be one of our happiest privileges from time to time to place flowers upon these graves as we have come thus personally to know these visiting parents.

Another interesting group of visitors has been the boys who have fortunate so soon to visit the scenes of the battles in which they themselves were participants. Sometimes we have gone with them to the very places where they have recalled with thrilling description the incidents of the battle. It may have been by a well remembered ledge which afforded shelter for the moment from the deadly bursting shell, or it may have been at the foot of a shattered tree-trunk where one found the place where a loved comrade fell. Recently we had with us Frank P. Sibley, war correspondent of the Boston Globe. He was with the New England boys of the 26th division when they relieved the marines at Belleau woods. He had been sent over this time by the Boston Globe to follow in his footsteps of four years before. Together we went over the battle grounds which were so familiar to him, and which will be remembered thru all time by the boys who were there. We sought out the ruined houses which had been used by General Edwards and his staff as headquarters, on the different days of the advance. The LaLorge farm, the farme de Paris and the Maison Blanche still held souvenirs of their distinguished American occupants. At the door of the Maison Blanche we found the old proprietor of the farm, Monsieur Victor Delezey, in his eighty-fifth year, sitting quietly in the sunshine. At his back was the shell scarred walls, over grown with a wealth of blooming roses. We made a memorable picture as he was recalling the scene of the historic house as it was when he came back to it. He told of his father having been born in it and if his grandfather who died there at the age of ninety. A little granddaughter sat by his side as he recalled the experiences of the summer four years before.

Near Lucy-Le-Bocage we found the ravine and the culvert under the road, where a first aid station had dressed the wounds of hundreds upon hundreds of our boys. Far into the Trugny woods we went and found trenches which had sheltered our brave lads. In the silence of the woods whose trees are slowly but surely dying from the effects of the gas and whose tops had been shot off and in the presence of huge shell holes, our visitor recalled the scenes which he himself had witnessed there.

Almost daily groups of tourists have wheeled up to our door, with sometimes twenty-five or fifty persons in the party. A few words of explanation are usually given in the court before the visitors are taken thru the building. It is stated that we are here because of the gift of the centenary fund of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, and that the work is sustained as a social settlement in Chateau-Thierry in memory of the American soldiers who sleep at Belleau. We tell them that it is a work for the social, intellectual and moral uplift of the entire community without distinction of creed. We say that if a child were in the Marne and needing help, we would not stand upon the bank and ask what were the politics or the religion of his ancestors. We tell them that the Methodist Memorial has won for itself a place in the heart of Chateau-Thierry from the mayor of the city, and the inspector of public schools to the humblest widow of the war who earns her living by washing clothes in the Marne.

With these words of explanation it has been interesting to see the number of Methodists who have been among the visitors. Nearly always they come to the front letting it be known that they belong to the church and have a personal interest in the work. Many of them, however, have said they were surprised to find such an institution here. One woman said, "tell me, is this really the work of the Centenary? My husband has been chairman of the committee in our church and has raised hundreds of dollars for the Centenary movement. I am president of the W. F. M. S. and also of the W. H. M. S. but I declare I never knew the Centenary had such a work as this." Another earnest young Epworth league worker said, "we worked mighty hard last year for our Centenary apportionment but I can tell you it will come a heap easier next year for I am going home to tell them all about it."

Often we have seen them making notes as they have passed from the class room into the game rooms and into the large music room, with its radio installation with wireless telegraphy for the instruction of our boy scouts, and out into the library with its thousand or more books in circulation, and again as we came into the rooms of the Creche with the tiny white beds all filled with babies from three months to two years of age. They have all seemed to be pleased, but some have said, "why have we not known of this before?" I have them had to say that they have not read carefully their church papers, or followed the reports of the Centenary funds.

Dozens of people have asked for literature to send back to their pastors that they might know all about it.

Sometimes it has been a group of Wellesley college students, or girls from the French department in Dana hall, or Goucher college who have insisted that they would go back this year and interest the other girls in doing something for the aid of the Memorial. Social workers from many places have expressed their interest and have greatly encouraged the workers here.

The president of the bureau of recreations in Pittsburgh said that the young people of that city could be easily interested in the boy scouts of Chateau-Therry. A social worker from Springfield, Mass., wished especially to carry back pictures of our children's

VOCATIONAL WORK IS HELPING MANY

Rehabilitation Department of State is Putting Sick and Injured Back into Normal Ways of Life.

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois vocational rehabilitation department is putting injured and sick people back on their feet in the normal way of life. Within a few short months, since the work was organized field agents of the department have registered over 300 cases of persons who were on the edge of the "down and out" line, and besides helping to build up their bodies, broken in the commercial battle, have placed seventy-five of them under instruction that will give them new success in life, it is predicted.

A coal miner aged twenty-four in the southern part of the state, whose ears were blown off and one eye put out in a mine explosion, has been re-educated for a different vocation and soon will start anew, not only with a changed environment, but with a vastly improved courage. He could not write and could scarcely read. The board has sent him to school and taught him a trade. In one month he accomplished almost an entire year's schooling, so appreciative was he of the new opportunity.

A negro who lost both legs and an arm in a railroad accident has two new wooden legs and is happily located on a patch of land where he is truck gardening.

In Chicago, Herbert D. Battles, a field agent for the department, saw a man trying to climb a stairway on stumps that once were legs.

"Mister, how would you like a new pair of legs and a new job where the new legs could be put to good use?" Mr. Battles asked him.

"My friend, you must be the fairy I've been looking for," was the reply. "I've dreamed all my life of something like tha."

Injured when a boy, the man for many years had been trying to eke out a miserable existence peddling coal. He now walks upright like a man and has learned a trade.

The department is under the executive direction of Francis G. Blair, superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Charles Henry Saylor is in actual charge of the work as supervisor.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Will Baxter were among Saturday business callers in the city from Orleans.

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS ARE PAYING THE TAX

Former Governor Lowden Says as General Rule They Are the Only People in Illinois Who Are Paying Full Personal Property Taxes.

(By The Associated Press)

Oregon, Ill., Oct. 28.—By The A. P.—Widows and orphans are, as a general rule "the only people in Illinois who are paying full personal property taxes on their intangible holdings," Former Governor Frank O. Lowden declared in an addres here today before the sixth district section of the Illinois State Bar association. Widows and orphans whose property is in the hands of the probate court or held in trust cannot conceal such property, he explained. He praised the tax provisions of the constitution of 1870, he said, the same rate of taxation must be levied upon all property of all kinds. "The result has been that a large proportion of intangible personal property has escaped taxation altogether,' he continued.

"Take, for instanie, bonds and mortgages. The rate of taxation in Illinois is frequently not less than two and one-half per cent upon the actual cash yield. Bonds and mortgages drawing from four to five per cent. If this rule were strictly applied, would pay half or more of their yield to the tax gatherer. If this rate were strictly enforced, the owners of that form of property would acquire a residence elsewhere where the laws of taxation are less burdensome, and Illinois would be the loser. The result is that the law is not generally enforced as against this form of property.

"The new constitution provides that the legislature may, in lieu of direct taxes upon intangible personal property, levy a uniform income tax upon the revenue derived from such property."

EXPERIMENTING WITH SUNFLOWER SILAGE

(By The Associated Press)

Urbana, Ill.—Palatability is an important factor in determining the value of sunflower silage for dairy cows, as judged from the results of experiments with sunflower silage recently completed at the University of Illinois. Silage made from the entire sunflower plant has a slightly bitter taste and is not eaten quite so readily as good corn silage.

"Sunflowers ensiled eighty-seven days and 106 days from the time of planting, when the plan's were twenty-three percent in bloom respectively, produced silage which kept well but was consumed somewhat less freely than good corn silage," W. B. Nevens of the university said today. "The earlier cutting proved to be a little the more palatable.

"A third cutting of the sunflowers at 126 days after planting, when the plants were mature and a few of them dead, yielded silage of inferior character, both in keeping qualities and in palatability. The silage became moldy, probably owing to a lack of sufficient moisture in the plants at time of harvest to insure the normal fermentation process which silage undergoes. Only a small amount of this silage was consumed daily, it being particularly distasteful, posibly due to the effects of rust which late in the summer attacked the growing plants severely.

"A wide variation in their liking for sunflower silage was noted in the case of individual cows. Some cows relished sunflower silage almost as well as corn silage, while others would consume but very little of it.

"Upon the whole, sunflowers seem to be quite a satisfactory crop for silage in many sections where corn cannot be grown to advantage. A complete report of this investigation is in course of preparation."

Practically All Roads In that State Have Been Heavy Graveled—Report on Illinois Roads.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Tourists have been warned in the weekly road report issued this week by the Chicago Motor Club to look out for heavy graveling on all roads in Indiana. A national highway all the way across Indiana will be opened probably about Thanksgiving, according to this report.

The following notes were added to this warning: "Several detours on Dixie highway south of Indianapolis. Detour on state road from Seymour to Crothersville. Detour between Aurora and Lawrenceburg. Construction work around Jasper and Huntington."

Fair to good conditions were reported on roads of several Illinois counties:

"Boone County—Roads all in good shape. Last abutment just finished Cook creek bridge this week but structure will not be opened to traffic on route 5 of Grant highway for at least 30 days. Repairs being made on bridge at Cherry Valley makes it inaccessible to traffic except during early morning and evening hours. Take North Rockford road from Belvidere to Rockford.

"Carroll County—Earth roads good but dusty. Oiled roads pitted, macadam on Indian Head trail rough and rovelling because of continued dry weather.

"Champaign County—All roads in this county in excellent condition.

"Christian County—All roads in god condition; oil being applied on many roads with the intention of all winter service.

"Mason County — Roads dry and somewhat chucky, but as a whole are in fair condition; all roads open.

"Peoria County — All roads good to excellent in all directions for one hundred miles; crossroads rough or rutty in places from lack of attention since rains.

"Washington County — All roads in fair condition. Some a little rough after recent rains.

"Will County—All roads in fair shape.

"Winnebago County — Bridge at Cherry Valley on Grant Highway, state route No. 5, closed from 8 a. m., to 5 p. m. but while being replanked. Completion of work will require more than a week. Detour via Newburn road from Belvidere north of Cherry Valley to "Five Points," 3 mile east of Rockford City limits."

MENACE FROM MINES STILL PRESENT AT SEA

Stockholm—All ships leaving ports on the Baltic Sea have been warned of the renewed danger of mines, many of which have been found in various parts of the sea during the last month.

The latest casualty laid to mines is the loss of the Finnish lightship Storbotten, which was blown up by a mine off Aland in September. Five of the crew of ten were lost. The loss of many vessels since the war is believed to have been caused by the mines.

The sea was reported to be mine free after German boats had been sent to clear the waters last summer. It is now alleged that this job was not well done, and that there is still much danger from these floating derelicts.

S. W. NICHOLS HAS ARRIVED IN ARIZONA

Had Interesting Experience Enroute to Southwest.

Tombstone, Arizona
Oct. 23, 1922

Dear Journal:

Here at last and I can surely say that "the longest way around is the shortest way home." At Lincoln, Nebr., the long way would have been to go back to Kansas City, occupying seven or eight hours of a day ride and in the evening take a thru train without change of cars till within ten miles of my destination when a road like the Wabash from Maysfield to Pittsfield, would bring me here. But the Rock Island agent at Lincoln was certain I could cut across lots, go south and somewhere strike the main line all right so I started one evening for my far away winter home.

I must change cars at Belleville about fifty miles away, and then go to McFarland, fifty miles more, and get a sleeper, but at Belleville I found my train was way late so I entered the station which was hot and stuffy and when I could stand it no longer would go out into the severe cold till I could endure that no longer. This I kept up until nearly eleven when I roused up from a reverie, as I supposed, and sought a train just arrived but when I announced my destination I was informed that my train had gone ten minutes before when I must have been asleep.

Now I didn't utter any cuss words but I did think of the noted bishop who went with a vestryman, disguised in plain clothes, to an island resort in a distant part of Maine coast. After a few weeks pleasantly spent as they chose, no one knowing the prelate's identity, they decided to leave. The landing was quite a distance from the little hotel and their luggage, a heavy load, was shouldered by the porter who arrived at the shore just in time to see the boat disappear. He swore a loud string of oaths whereupon the vestryman remarked to the Bishop: "How does this strike you?" "There are times when the services of a layman are very acceptable," was the response.

One day, before the C. & A. road was contsructed, Prest Sturtevant rode to St. Louis in a stage in which was a passenger very profane. At a town on the way a man acquainted with the doctor boarded the stage and disclosed his identity when the profane man apologized profusely saying he didn't know he had a preacher with him and the good doctor kindly reminded him that there was one greater than earthly preacher who hears all we say.

One day, in the early history of Colorado, a home missionary boarded a mountain hack for a long ride. He had with him four regular walking arsenals and as they talked of all sorts of adventures, killing Indians and wild animals and various experiences the good man trembled lest each moment might be his last.

Finally, one of the rough men produced a bottle of whiskey and tendering it to the missionary said: 'Stranger! do you irrigate?'

"If you men drink, no."

"Stranger! do you object to our irigating?"

"Certainly not if you wish."

So each man took a pull at the bottle. After a while they produced pipes and one said:

"Stranger! do you fumigate?"

"If you men smoke, No."

"Stranger; do you object to our fumigating?"

"Not if you men want to."

After a while the dinner station, a shack in the woods, was reached and each one partook of a hearty meal. The minister stepped up to the clerk to pay his bill when the latter pointed to the missionary's seat mate and told him that man had paid the bill. Going up to him he asked if he hadn't made a mistake but the walking arsenal replied:

"Oh no. As soon as you didn't drink and smoke with us we knew you were a preacher and you can't pay any bills in this crowd for we respect the gospel."

I had to hunt a hotel for the night and and found one near by and was shown to a room as cold as an ice box with a bed like a bank of snow and I expected to cough the rest of the night but didn't even give a bark and for two days was better than I had been since leaving home.

We reached McFarland next day all right and going to the lunch room I ordered an article called by courtesy soup but will not try to describe it. As Hutchinson was right on the way and Burford Hayden is living there I decided to stop over but had to change again at Harington and I really wondered how many ramifications the Rock Island had. Often one would enter a station change cars and leave in the opposite direction.

I will say tho that the Rock Island service is excellent. The cars are practically all steel, kept well cleaned and furnished and the road bed is smooth while the train men are polite.

I enjoyed a pleasant day at Hutchison and then thought I would try to get to El Paso but again the train was several hours late and I hung around the station with a promise from the agent that the train would soon be in but it wasn't. At last it came and I managed to get an upper berth in a sleeper and there were but thre left. There were seven or eight other sleepers on the train, all filled, but only one day coach was needed. This train was not the crack Golden Gate Limited but a very good one.

We arived in ElPaso several hours late and I sought a hotel and went to bed. I knocked about some next day and then took the Golden State Limited which was long and had all sleepers but one. It was several hours late so some more waits. Fairbank is the station at which we change for Tombstone but the way train wouldn't wait so long so another change and night lodging were between me and my destination. As there is no hotel at Fairbank I stopped off at Douglas, which is quite an important center. There are many smelters in the city and a large amount of business is done there. I would have been glad to put in a day there but decided I had wandered about enough so in the morning I took the day accommodation train for Fairbank. There I was gretted by my good friend, Mr. Sparks, conductor of the train from Tombstone and a fine gentleman.

They had to wait for another train but if he had pulled right out I think I should have fainted. I was sorry to miss my esteemed friend, David Struthers, engineer of the cross train but he is suffering with a carbuncle on his neck and is obliged to lie off a while.

Tombstone looks as natural as ever. Only is picking up a bit. into it and thru it and it will be a great addition to the place. They are making some hard roads into tit and thru it and it will be a great addition to the place. It is on one of the main auto trails to California and a host of tourists may be seen every day. They have a convenient campine ground near the town and make travelers welcome.

The place has a romatic history. Away back in the early days a man named Ed Schefflin, his brother and a third man, sought the far west in search of gold. As they were riding on a stage they looked in the direction of this locality and decided there must be valuable ore here and when they reached Tucson they stocked up and started. They were warned that the Indians were plentiful in the locality but they pushed on being reminded that they would very probably find their tombstone instead of ore.

They reached the locality and found they were not mistaken in their diagnosis but they came very near paying for their temerity with their lives. They carefully concealed their camp and began to hope that they would not be molested when one night they saw by the light of the moon several dusky forms creeping stealthily about. They decided on a stragagem and succeeded.

Leaving one of their number in the camp the other two creept off in different directions and then one after another fired his rifle where at the rekskins seemed to hear a host and departed.

At last it was necessary that provisions be brought from Tucson and two set out leaving Ed Schefflin in the camp alone. It was with many misgivings that they did it but it seemed to be the only course.

They loaded their packs and started back. Arriving in the vicinity of the camp they were horrified to see several Indians but they were walking about, evidently not seeking any one to devour them. The twain supposed Ed had been killed and lay quiet and trembling for some time but at last were astonished and delighted to see him walk out of the tent and fraternize with the Indians.

They made themselves known and Ed told them that two or three days ago a band of Indians drew near. He knew it would be certain death if he opposed them so he tried a new deal, beckoning them to come on. Strange to say the rascals did so and the hardy miner showed them a lot of tricks and gained their good will. The camp was named Tombstone. Were this story not well athenticated it would sound like a fairy tail but it is true history.

The mines were somewhat developed and Schefflin should have made a fortune, but like others who blazed the way, he failed to realize to any broad extent tho there were at one time sixteen thousand inhabitants in this place and all practically supported by mining. Schefflin died many years later in San Francisco and on his death bed requested that his body be buried where he had that famous camp with the Indians and it was done and a somewhat imposing monument built of tough boulders marks the spot. It is along the main highway and many tourists stop to examine it.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC NOTES

Miss Virginia Clark, pupil of Director Pearson, played the accompaniments for Mrs. Barr Brown's solos at the annual dinner of the Social Service League which was given at Grace church last Tuesday evening.

Aita Crum, pupil of Miss Horsbrugh, gave several numbers at a bazaar and tea held last week at the home of Mrs. F. J. Andrews.

A new feature of the children's classes on Saturday mornings will be the hour of story-telling from ten to eleven o'clock for those who have to wait between classes. Miss Powell will have charge of this period with several students from the English class of Miss Neville to assist her. On nice days the children will also play out-door games under the direction of Miss Helen Bly.

Velma Kitchell, pupil of Miss Kirby and Geneva Coleman, pupil of Mr. Pearson, have been chosen to play for the rythm classes under Miss Boyd. Another class in rythm has been organized to acomodate the number of boys who wish to take this work. This class will meet at 11:30 on Saturdays.

The first of a series of informal students' recitals will be given on November 9.

Miss Horsbrugh will resume ensemble classes on Thursday, Nov. 2. All advanced students in violin eligible for this class which serves as preparation for the more public performances and in which each student's work is discussed by all members present.

Mrs. Forrest sang a group of songs at the High school and Junior High school assemblies last Thursday and was accorded a hearty applause in both schools. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Martin.

Director Pearson will give his annual organ recital on Monday evening, Oct. 30. As usual, a most interesting program has been prepared, ranging from works by Handel to recent publications by the most modern European and American composers. The public is cordially invited to be present.

Director Pearson has just received the following letter from Chickering & Sons of Boston, which will be of interest to those who are attending the 1922-23 Artist Series.

"Mr. Maurice Dumesnil, the brilliant French artist who plays under your management in your Colleeg the evening of Nov. 13, uses, as you doubtles know, Chickering concert grands exclusively. He will be pleased to use your Chickering Concert Grand No. 15219, and our Mr. Cole, expert tuner who travels with the artist, will accompany him to Jacksonville and prepare the instrument.

"It is our impression this is a return engagement for this artist, so you know what a fine treat is in store. Mr. Dumesnil is playing wonderfully this season. The Detroit "Free Press" of Oct. 10 says of him, 'Two characteristics especially will be remembered in the playing of Mr. Dumesnil. The rich, beautiful tone he obtains from his instrument and the emotional restraint he displays in his interpretations.'"

Director Henry Ward Pearson Will Render Second of Faculty Programs Next Monday Evening.

Director Henry Ward Pearson, organist of the College of Music will give the second of the 1922-23 faculty series in music hall, I. W. C. next Monday evening, October 30, 8:15 o'clock.

The following program has been prepared to which the public is cordially invited.

Program.

Sonata No. 1 in Minor, Felix Borowski.

I. Allegro; II. Andante; III. Allegro con fuoco.

Felix Borowski was born in England in 1872. His father was a Polish nobleman who fled to England during the Polish rebellion, and who was his first teacher in violin and piano. He lived in London until 1897. Since that date he has been connected with the Chicago Musical College. At present he is music critic for the Chicago Record-Herald and also prepares the program notes for the Chicago Smyphony orchestra. This sonata is a work of great breadth and dignity, is clear in design and shows a thorough commond of organ effects.

Gavotte in B flat, Handel.

Handel was a great organ virtuoso and greatest when engaged in extempore performances. In comparison to Bach he left very few compositions for the organ. His chief efforts were directed to vocal composition—first to opera, later to oratorio—and upon the latter his fame rests. His organ works are less profound than Bachs. Even a curasory examination will show that the fegues are less carefully worked out, the counterpoint less organic—yet as sound pieces they are none the less effective.

Contrasts. Browns.

Dr. J. Lewis Browne is organist and choir master of St. Patrick's church, Chicago. "Contrasts" his latest organ composition is decidedly off the beaten track and its essential and most striking characteristic is well described by the title.

Romance Sans Paroles. Joseph Bonnet.

Joseph Bonnet was born at Bordeaux, France, in 1884. He is as present organist at St. Eustache and professor of organ at the Paris conservatory, succeeding the late Alexandre Guilmant. He is one of the most brilliant organ composers of the present day. He served his country as an officer in the trenches during the recent war. He has given a series of brilliantly successful recital tours in America and is to tour again this season.

The Bells of St. Ann de Beaupre. Russell.

The Bells of St. Ann de Beaupre, one of the four pieces composing the "St. Lawrence Sketches" was inspired by the bells of "St. Ann de Beaupre Quebec. The "program" includes the chimes of the church—gathering of the faithful—chanting of the choir—the procession—the procession—the miracle — benediction—bells in the distance.

Clair de Lune (Moonlight). Sigfried Karg-Elert.

This is one of "Three Impressions," Opus 72, and is written in the free modern style. Atmosphere and color rather than definiteness of line is its chief characteristic Karg-Elert is connected with the conservatory of music at Leipsig. He is one of the most brilliant composers of organ music Germany has produced in recent years. In his works he seems to show a decided French influence.

Marche Russe. Schminke.

Mr. Schmenke was born in New York in 1881. Studied theory with Max Spiker and organ with Gaston M. Dethier.

The principal theme of this march is founded on the Russian folk song "Ay Ouchmen" sung by the Bargemen in the Volga as they haul their boats. The second is of Russian origin. The "Ay Ouchmen" is used by the whole first part; the second theme when it appears is developed to a vigorous climax which leads to the brilliant reappearance of the first theme fortissimo, under which a clever piece of contrapuntal writing, the majestic Russian national hymn contributes to the thrilling ending.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The History Club of the Woman's College held its regular monthly meeting Friday evening. The feature of the meeting was a lecture on the Near East situation by Profesor Gertrude Lobdell. The membership in this club has grown rapidly until it now numbers one hundred and forty, making it one of the strongest organizations of the college.

The Hallowe'en party was well advertised at the weekly student meeting. A clever stunt was pulled off by a group of Klu Klux who ordered all students and faculty to be present Saturday night. The Athletic Association have the affair in charge.

Interesting letters come from former students of the college. Lucy Pyatt writes of her work in the High school at Tucson, Ariz. She is greatly enjoying her work and is planning for her sister to enter the college before long. Margaret Pires writes of her position at Niles, Mich., where she has charge of the work in Home Economics. Miss Pires was one of the honor students at the college, getting her moster's degree from the University of Illinois the following year after graduating from the Woman's College. Lucile Woodward - Edwards has written of her work at Benton Harbor, Mich., where she is teaching Fine Arts in the High school, public schools and grade schools of that city.

Mrs. R. W. Barwise of Edwardsville is visiting her daughter, Miss Alice, a member of the Class of 24.

Class games are being played on the hockey field, and by specially chosen teams in Volley Ball. The competition between the lions and tigers in volley ball is especially interesting. In the game Friday evening the tigers were victorious by a very small margin; the lions claim they will even up the score n ithe next game. Soccer foot ball and keen rivalry the tennis teams holds the interest of both faculty and students.

Miss Leta Groves has been engaged to assist in the work in the alumnae and former student deparement.

The Wallace Orchards are now offering Gano and Ben Davis apples on the trees to those who want them at from $1 to $3 per tree. Trees will run from 5 to 15 bushels to the tree. Open Sundays. Plenty of good sweet cider. Bring your own container.

Don't "Buy" Tires

Invest in them. Consider a tire as an investment from which you will receive returns in the form of long wear, cushioning and traction. Without any one of these returns your investment is not a good one.

When you buy bonds, what do you consider? The color of the paper or the gilt on the edge? No. Instead you consider the integrity and resources of the firm behind it—also the firm you are buying from.

A Well Designed Septic Tank Is Fool Proof

Frank P. Hanson, extension specialist in Farm Mechanics at the University of Illinois, is authority for the following statement:

Eight thousand people died in the U. S. in 1919 from typhoid fever. That means at least 80,000 cases of typhoid. Of this number of deaths, 5300 were country people.

Filth diseases (typhoid, dysentary, hookworm, cholera and diarrhea) are caused by germs that live upon filth which in most cases is the waste or refuse products of the human body and other decaying animal and vegetable matter about the home. That these filth diseases cause more deaths in the country than in the city is explained by the fact that cities take more care in disposing of sewage while in the country it is usually the case that little or no attention is given to the disposal of sewage. Country people have and want the home conveniences that the city dwellers have. In this day and age they can have conveniences as indoor toilets and still safely dispose of the wastes at little cost.

A septic tank permits of the proper disposal of sewage. Usually it costs little to make and much less if anything to maintain. Sewage entering a properly designed septic tank remains there until eaten up by anaerobic or bacteria that work without air. A heavy scum on the surface of the liquid in a septic tank denotes that solid matter has been changed or is being changed into gases and liquids. The liquid (effluent) leaving a septic tank should look very clear. However it is not purified for it may contain disease germs and solid matter held in suspension. This liquid should be spread out in the surface soil or in a stream so that the bacteria that live in the air can purify it.

A small part of the organic matter in the sewage is not changed to gases or liquids and this with mineral matter sinks to the bottom of the tank and forms a sludge. Sewage should be carried to a septic tank thru nonporous tile and cemented joints. Waste from a sink should go thru a grease trap for grease does not decompose in a septic tank. Drain tile with open joints are used to make a filter bed so that the effluent can soak into the soil and be purified.

Various types of septic tanks have been used successfully, but because the single chamber septic tank is so easy to construct it has met with special favor. Every farm home have running water. With running water there should be indoor toilets and bath. Such a system necessitates the disposal of much sewage and a septic tank disposal system which costs little will safely dispose of the sewage and when properly installed, destroy all filth disease germs.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THESE FIGURES?

Forty per cent of the freshman class of Albion College did not know that Joshua was a Book in the Bible. This fact was revealed by the psychological examination given by Profesor E. L. Kuhnes recently. A modification of the Thurston method, which consists of 168 questions to be answered in thirty minutes, was used. Two hundred and sixteen students took the test with the following results: the student ranking highest was Vera Roush, who answered 163 quesions. 131 of which were correct. Alfred Evans was a close second with 130 right out of a possible 168. The lowest record was 28 correct answers out of 63 attempted. Several students said John Drew was an athlete and sixty per cent were unable to locate Cornell University. According to thirty per cent, Baltimore is not on the map and Denver is "somewhere in the U. S. A."

A Perfect Blend of the Artisan and the Artist—

The Victrola

A Perfect Blend of the Artisan and the Artist—

The greatest soprano, the greatest tenor, the greatest basso, the greatest violin—all the rarest jewels in the world's diadem of music masterpieces—are yours to enjoy over and over again if your home contains a Victrola.

There is only one Victrola. Not content to bring you passable performance, merely, Victor scouts are roaming the earth seeking the sensational in art—the supreme in human endeavor. Today it is as great an honor for an artist to be invited to make records for the Victor as it is to be asked to star in the Metropolitan.

In this day of progress and enlightenment, can you afford not to have a Victrola? Where else can you get so much for so little.

Victrolas are priced as low as $25. New "console" models—the very latest in Victrolas, $115, $160 and upward.

An Old View of Jacksonville

On display in the window of The Farmers State Bank and Trust company is a bird's eye view of Jacksonville as it was over fifty years ago. The engraving is discolored with age and somewhat tattered, but inspection discloses that it was executed with much care. It is made from a hand drawing with the foreground just north of the Wabash railroad station. There is no inscription of any kind on it to indicate the name of the artist, engraver, or the date.

It must have been drawn about 1869 as it shows the present Court House which was completed about 1869, the Centenary church which was completed about 1868, the Christian church on East State street which was first occupied about 1868, the Christian church on South Main street which was completed about 1868, Brooklyn church which was completed about 1868, the First Presbyterian church which was completed about 1867 and the Trinity church as remodeled about 1867.

It does not show the old Court House in the Southwest quarter of the Public Square and does not show the Woolen Mills of the Home Manufacturing Company on South Main street which were destroyed by fire in January 1873.

The main building of the School for the Blind is shown but it is not known whether the structure shown is the building which burned in 1869 or the new building completed in 1870.

While there are some errors in location in the view, the drawing of most of the old land marks is excellently done and will recall the old times to many. The growth of the trees in Jacksonville is strickly shown as is the absence of trees in many sections of the city which now are almost forests.

library for the young people of her group.

Two teachers from Chicago wished to know more definitely the story of the two little Lecart boys whom we had just placed in our school at Charvieu. We had to assume the expense of placing them there because there was not enough in the Centenary budget for them. The mother had died leaving four children with the father, who had been wounded and gassed and was unable to work. His sister had taken the four little children into her family with already five of her own. Her brother was in the house also seven weeks in bed. We now have the four children in our Foyer Retrouves at Charvieu and Ecully.

Two Chicago teachers said that it would be a joy to the boys and girls in their school to have a part in helping to save two such boys from the ruined homes of Chateau-Thierry.

Our hearts have been made glad by the many who have visited us through the summer, but especially as it has permitted our friends in the homeland to come into a closer and more intimcate acquaintance with our friends in Chateau-Thierry.

If there were only possible for them all to know these people in the devastated area of France as we are coming to know them we feel that they would love them as we do, and that they would appreciate more fully the noble effort which these French people are making to rebuild and regain their homes which were so ruined by the war.

Congressman's Shaw's Record Is Endorsed By National Commander of American Legion.

The following letter was recently sent to Congresman Shaw by Hanford MacNider, National Comander of the American Legion, voicing the Legion's appreciation of the consistent support given by the Congressman:

THE AMERICAN LEGION
Office of National Commander
Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Honorable Guy L. Shaw,
Beardstown, Illinois.

My Dear Congressman Shaw:

The service men and women are deeply grateful for the way you have stood by us, fought for us, and in the face of a great well-financed attack, by what we cannot help but feel to be sordid and selfish opposition, refused to desert your convictions for the right. Those whom you represent appreciate your high stand. The nation is behind us all in this fight, and no one can continue to prevent the people's best wishes from being carried out in a republic.

We have only began this battle. We are right and right always prevails in America.

At our National Convention this month the Adusted Compensation Legislation will be endorsed more strongly than ever. The American Legion is more unanimous and stronger in its conviction of the justice of this legislation than ever before. You will be interested to know that even in this year of financial depression and industrial troubles our membership has increased. Nearly half the states of the Union have more members now than at the end of last year.

I am writing you that you may know that we are grateful for your endeavors in our behalf. We shall not forget, and we shall win in this fight.

Yours very sincerely,
(signed) HANFORD MacNIDER.

SOUTH JACKSONVILLE TO USE STATE PIPE LINES

The village of South Jacksonville, which has advertised for bids for laying water mains in South Main street in said village, has also secured the privilege, upon payment of a small rental, of using a certain pipe line, formerly used by the Jacksonville State hospital. This line has not been used for a number of years.

Dr. J. A. Wheeler was instrumental in bringing this matter about. As the matter rested, neither the state nor anyone else secured any benefit from this line. Thru Dr. Wheeler's action the village will now be permitted to use this line to supply water to residents along Michigan avenue, thus benefitting the state in the amount of rental paid, and benefitting the city of Jacksonville in the matter of water soid. Not only the officials of said village but also the residents along Michigan avenue greatly appreciate the interest shown and services of Dr. Wheeler.

Market Report

By The Associated Press

PRICE OF GRAINS AVERAGED LOWER

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—All grains averaged lower today, wheat easing off during the last hour as a result of a little week-end profit-taking. At the finish wheat was ⅛ to ⅞c lower with Dec. 31.14½ and May $1.12⅜ to $1.12⅞; corn was ⅜c to 1@1⅛c off, oats were down ¼ to ½c and provisions unchanged to 12c higher.

While December wheat acted strong and advanced to a new high for the week in the early trading evening up by longs for over Sunday with reports of a lack of export demand resulted in an action before the close that carried values off readily from the top but the undertone was by no means weak. Houses with eastern connections were buyers of December and this delivery went to about two cents over the May.

Liverpool closed at a slight advance making only a moderate response to the advance in North America the previous day. Gulf bids were on a slightly firmer basis. Reports as to the car situation were mixed with a little improvement claimed in parts of the southwest.

Corn and oats were under pressure in sympathy with the decline in wheat and on local pressure. The bulk of the selling was of a local character and by scattered longs who were evening up for over Sunday. Outside markets outbid Chicago for old and new corn down state and the south outbid this market for oats.

Provisions were rather dull and slightly easier with hogs and grains

CASH GRAIN REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Prices for wheat in the cash market today were 1c easier and premiums were firm. Cash sales were 25,000 bushels including some hard winters to mills at highest premiums on the crop. Cash corn was weak with prices 1½@2c easier; premiums ranged from 2 to 4c lower. Shipping sales were 100,000 bushels.

Oats finished lower with premiums unchanged. Shipping sales were 150,000 bushels including 25,000 bushels to exporters.

Cars inspected: Wheat, 30; Corn, 210; Oats, 81.

Mr. and Mrs. Hackett Weldon and son Gene returned to Jacksonville yesterday after a several days' motor trip to St. Louis and other points.

MOST ISSUES SHOW LOSSES AT CLOSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Prices opened higher in today's stock market in response to short covering but profittaking and professional selling at the higher levels, combined with the lack of effective buying power sent them downward again, most issues showing slight net losses at the close.

Gulf States Steel was the individual strong spot, climbing 3½ points in a flurry of buying in the last hour. Other steel shares made little response to the optimistic views of trade conditions expressed at the American Iron and Steel Institute meeting. United States Steel common, Bethlehem "B," Lackawanna, Replogle and Vanadium soaring only small fractional gains.

Mexican Petroleum developed strength improving 1½ points but changes in the other oil shares were mixed.

Equipment shares were again weak, Baldwin dropping a point, while American and Lima, American Car, yielded fractionally.

United Cigar Stores jumped 10 points to a new high record on a turnover of 200 shares, and Otis Elevator and Kelsey Wheel added five points to yesterday's final prices.

Total sales were 326,000 shares.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to weakness but trading unusually brisk for a Saturday session. Demand sterling dropped below $4.46 and minor recessions were noted in the French, Belgian and Italian rates, Norwegian exchange was firm.

The Clearing house statement showed a decrease of $51,553,000 in loans, discounts and investments and a decrease of $15,529,000 in the reserve of member banks in the federal reserve bank. Net demand deposits decreased by $32,325,000. Excess reserve totaled $51,716,020, an increase of $27,222,230 over last week.

Conspicuous strength of investment bonds after two weeks of pronounced reaction was the chief feature of today's dealings in bonds. United States government bonds alone showed signs of irregularity, but the changes were of a nominal character.

LARGE ORDERS FOR NEW CARS AND ENGINES

"The orders the railroads have placed thus far this year for locomotives and freight cars show that they are using all available resources to increase their facilities, says the Railway Age. The number of freight cars ordered this year to October 15 was 122,953. This exceeds the average annual records of both the last five and the last ten years. In fact in only three years of the last ten were larger orders placed, namely in 1912, 1913 and 1916. The average number of cars ordered annually in the ten years ending with 1921 was 106,469, and in the five years ending with 1921 it was 64,619.

"The number of locomotives which has been ordered to October 15 was 1,792. The average number ordered annually in the ten years ending with 1921 was 2,118. Thus, orders placed in the first forty-one weeks of this year do not equal the annual average orders of the last decade. They do, however, exceed the average number ordered annually in the five years ending with 1921, which was only 1,483.

"The new equipment bought will not, of course, result in an equivalent net increase in the amount of equipment in service. The average number of locomotives retired from service annually in the ten years ending with 1921 was 1,615. This is only 177 less than the total number ordered thus far this year. The average number of freight cars scrapped and retired from service annually in the ten years ending with 1921 was 76,760. This is only 46,193 less than the total freight cars ordered thus far this year. Because of inability of the railways within recent years to buy a normal amount of new equipment the number of locomotive and cars that ought to be retired is now unusually large.

"But two and one-half months of the year 1922 still remained when these statistics regarding the orders placed this year were compiled. Substantial orders are still being placed and probably will continue to be until the end of the year. They will provide for a normal year's net increase in equipment, but will hardly make up for any of the large deficiency in equipment which has accrued within recent years.

"The comparatively large orders for locomotives and cars being placed evidently are predicted on the belief of railway managers that traffic will continue to move in increasing volume.

"In the fall of 1920 the railways handled the largest business that they ever did in thir history. The total number of cars loaded with freight in the four weeks ending with October 14, 1922 was only 2.9 per cent less than the number loaded in the corresponding weeks of 1920, but there are wide differences in the tonnages of the various classes of commodities handled in the two periods. Study of these differences may suggest what future tendencies are likely to be.

"Many people believe that the reason why the railways are now handling such a large volume of freight is that the coal strike has forced upon them an abnormal tonnage of coal and that therefore the present excess in the demand for transportation over the supply will be temporarily. This fact is that in the four weeks of 1922 mentioned the number of carloads of coal moved was 15 per cent less than in the same weeks of 1920. Furthermore, shipments of ore were 38 1-2 per cent less, of forest products 5 per cent less, and of coke 39 per cent less. How, then, was it that the total shipments were only three per cent less?

"Shipments of grain and grain products were 21 1-2 per cent larger than in 1920; of livestock 15 1-2 per cent larger and of less-than-carload merchandise 11 per cent larger. The farmer is sending his crops to market and getting his money for them as fast as he can. He was holding his crops back in 1920 and not getting his money for them. In view of these facts, is he not likely to be a larger purchaser in 1923 than he was in 1921?

"Shipments of L. C. L. merchandise thus far this year have been much greater than ever before. They consist chiefly of finished products. Retail merchants must have been buying them from wholesale merchants, and they from manufacturers, in large amounts or they would not have shipped in record-breaking volume. Since this has been the case, does it not seem probable that theer will be great activity in general manufacturing for months to come? When there is great activity in manufacturing there is a large demand for fuel and raw materials. Those engaged in the construction business say there is prospect of a great deal of construction work. Do these things not indicate the prospect of an increase in shipments of the classes of commodities which are now moving is as large volume as two years ago?

"Unless all past experience is misleading, the demands upon the railways in months and years immediately ahead are going to increase, and they will have use for more additional facilities than they will be able to provide."

DISHONOR BILLS INCREASE IN OSAKA

Osaka, Japan—The number of drawers whose bills were dishonored during the first eight months of the year in Osaka totaled 533, and the amount 678,837 yen, as against 375 and 370,855 yen in the same period last year. The average amount per drawer has increased from 987 yen, as in last year, to 1,274 yen this year, showing that the effects of bad business conditions is permeating from small retailers to larger retailers and merchants.

The comparatively large number of timber dealers who issued dishonor bills is thought to be due to the slump in the market owing to accumulated stock.
